GERAGHTYS CHALLENGE NEWPORT

NEWPORT, Sept. 7.—The "Jack" Geraghtys are in the enemy's country.

The first pitched battle is on to-day when the former chauffeur and his society bride challenge social Newport and the bride's parents by driving on the avenue at the very hour when society takes its drive.

Mr. and Mrs. Amos Tuck French, parents of young Mrs. Geraghty are almost certain to be on the avenue or in the Casino about the time the Geraghtys are driving.

What will happen?

Every one in society and all that portion of Newport which isn't in society but which is keenly interested in the "Jack" Geraghtys, is asking that question to-day.

Also, this further question, how will society treat the "Jack" Geraghtys?

The answer to both queries are expected this afternoon when young Mr. and Mrs. Geraghty take their drive.

The return of the Geraghtys to this city was unannounced. They arrived on the steamer Priscilla from Fall River about 9 o'clock last evening and were driven to the Aquidneck Hotel, one of the most select houses in Newport, much patronized by those in society who have no mansions or cottages here.

Will Drive in Avenue.

The Geraghtys sounded the first note of battle on their way to the Aquidneck. They ordered Dennis Corridon, who was driving them from the pier to the hotel, to stop at Stewart's livery stable. There Jack Geraghty left orders to have Mrs. Geraghty's horse and basket phaeton sent to the Aquidneck this afternoon as Mrs. Geraghty desired to drive on the avenue.

Both horse and phaeton, with Mrs. Geraghty, then Miss Julia Steele French, were familiar sights on Bellevue avenue in the earlier days of the season before Miss French eloped and was wedded to John Edward Geraghty, chauffeur and automobile demonstrator and son of a Newport livery stable keeper.

When the same rig appears on Bellevue avenue this afternoon with Mrs. Geraghty in it, but with her husband, who is not in the pale, beside her, society and the rest of Newport will take notice.

The rig is Mrs. Geraghty's own property. Both were gifts to her from her parents. Since her elopment the horse has been turned out to pasture.

Mr. and Mrs. Geraghty were not at first recognized when they entered the lobby of the Aquidneck. Both were well groomed and looked as if they were well contented with the world. He wore a natty straw hat and a raincoat over his dark suit, while Mrs. Geraghty looked fetching in a black and white checked suit and a huge picture hat with waving black plume. She carried her pet dog under one arm while over the other was draped her automobile coat.

When the carriage stopped at the entrance to the Aquidneck Jack jumped nimbly out and opened the door. Then he said, "Give me your hand, Julia," and aided his bride to alight.

Recognized in Hotel.

Mrs. Geraghty walked up to the hotel desk with her husband.

"Can you give me accommodation for myself and wife?" asked Jack.

The clerk answered in the affirmative.

Then Geraghty took the pen handed him by the clerk and wrote on the register: "J. E. Geraghty and wife, Newport." The clerk assigned them to suite No. 17. This is one of the best suites in the hotel. For years and years while Newport was one of the joint capitals of Rhode Island, it was always reserved for the use of the Governors of the State.

The clerk was still unaware of the identity of the new guests. But several persons who were in the lobby and the adjacent parlors were and the Geraghtys were the objects of curious glances as they waited for the bellboy to gather up their luggage.

Apparently young Mr. Geraghty assumed that everyone knew who they were.

"Well," he observed to the clerk, "We are back on the old stamping ground, now that people have got through talking about us." Then turning to Mrs. Geraghty, he said:

"Come on, dear," and they followed the bellboy to their suite.

"Gee, that's a swell looking couple," observed the clerk following them with an admiring glance. Then he was surrounded by a small crowd of guests eager to scan the entry on the register and discover who the new arrivals were.

Jack Geraghty returned to the office in a few moments and was held up by a newspaper man. He said they had returned from Springfield a few days earlier than they had expected because they had understood that the residence they had leased would be ready for occupancy within a day or two and both he and his wife were anxious to settle down to housekeeping as quickly as possible.

CHALLENGE CHAMPION OF EATERS

It's up to Charles W. Glidden of Lawrence to defend his title as the champion long-distance corn eater.

He is challenged to match himself against Baron Henry G. Donnewald of St. Louis, Mo. Notice the title, "Baron," also that the challenger comes from Missouri? He has to be shown.

The AMERICAN published on August 31 an account of Glidden's eating fifty-eight ears of corn in one hour and fifty-five minutes in an Atlantic avenue restaurant. This item reached St. Louis and now comes back to the AMERICAN, enclosed in the following letter:

Sporting Editor AMERICAN:

I noticed in a recent issue of your paper that Mr. Charles W. Glidden of Lawrence dropped into one of your town restaurants and ate fifty-eight ears of corn. If that was a fact and said individual thinks anything of his performance or that he can eat corn I wish through your column you would notify him I stand ready to back Baron Henry G. Donnewald of this city in a contest for any amount up to $5,000. Winner to take all. If Mr. Glidden is interested he can reach me care of Sporting Editor St. Louis Times.

Yours truly,
MICHAEL DONNEVANT.
Sept. 5, 1911.

The AMERICAN prints the challenge by the Baron's backer. It is to be hoped, in the interest of sport, corn and patriotism, that Mr. Glidden will take up the challenge.

Mr. Glidden is only a plain American citizen with no ancestrial halls or amorial bearings, so far as known. But he can eat corn.

It might be fitting for Mr. Donnevant to forward some details as to his titled "champ." What is his record and did he get his title for his eating powers or by noble descent?

CARNEGIE BEAUTIFIES PAN-AMERICAN UNION

WASHINGTON, Sept. 7.—A contract for improving the grounds of the Pan-American building here at a cost of $100,000 has been awarded to Norcross Bros. & Co. of Worcester, who erected the building. When the work is completed the home of the Pan-American Union will have the most beautiful setting of any building in Washington, it is said. Andrew Carnegie, who gave most of the $1,000,000 spent on the structure has furnished the money for beautifying the grounds.

BROKEN WATER PIPE FLOODS LYNN SQUARE

Hundreds of workers in shoe factories in Lynn got their feet wet to-day because they had to wade through a miniature lake in Washington square without their rubbers. The trouble was caused by a geyser seventy feet high, gushing from a broken main. The water tore its way through the pavement for seventy-five yards and flooded the lawn of the exclusive Oxford Club's house.

AMERICAN'S PRIZES IN SWIMMING RACE TO BE GIVEN TO-DAY

The prize in the AMERICAN'S swimming race for girls, held last Saturday in the Charles River Basin, will be awarded to the five prize-winners at the Mayor's office, City Hall, at 3 o'clock this afternoon.

Notice has been sent to the five winners to be present to receive the silver cups which constitute the trophies of the match. Other contestants, their friends or any one interested in seeing the presentation of prizes are invited to be present.

WINNIE CONLEY, TRYING SWIM TO THE LIGHT TO-DAY

Winnie Conley won fourth prize in the American's water carnival on the Charles River last Saturday.

Two Dorchester girls started on a swim to Boston Light to-day. They are Winnie Conley of No. 1845 Dorchester avenue, who was winner of the fourth prize in the AMERICAN'S great swimming match in the Charles River last Saturday, and Lillian Madeline Grace of Meeting House Hill.

Miss Conley is seventeen years old and Miss Grace is two years younger.

The two girls made their plans quietly. Accompanied by attendants to follow them in a motor boat, they appeared in the draw pier at Charlestown bridge shortly after 9 a. m. They doffed their street clothing, appearing in their regulation swimming costume. When the portions of their bodies not covered by the swimming costume were thoroughly greased the girls dived off the draw pier into the upper harbor waters at 9:52. This gave them thirty-six minutes before high tide at 10:28.

They figured on getting around North End Park by the turn of the tide, and then having both wind and tide in their favor for the rest of the long swim to Boston Light. The total distance from the bridge to the Light is twelve miles.

The air was cold, but the girls said, after they made their plunge, that they found the water warm and just right for a long swim. Each was confident of making the swim. In spite of the plans of the girls to get away without attracting a crowd of spectators a number of people saw them on the bridge and cheered them along.

ESSEX'S JOKER AID TO POKER

ESSEX, Sept. 7.—This was a day of fateful fate for poker players here. For almost a whole week they've lived in utmost fear.

On Sunday last they played a game on the platform of the station. A notice posted there next day filled them all with consternation.

"Notice to Gamblers," it began, and then went on to say, that if they didn't A. H. Hotchkiss face, in court they'd be to-day.

Now Hotchkiss is the station boss, and by some hook or crook, while they were dealing out the hands, he got their pictures took. They shuffledd cards, made their bets, and many a bluff did try, unconscious that all the while they were under the camera's eye.

The posted notice did not state who sat in the Sabbath game, but gossips think that they can give every player's name.

There was a sigh of deep relief which swept the town aroun' when some one in the gloom of night tore the railroad notice down.

DEMAND AUTOPSY ON BASEBALL PLAYER

HAVERHILL, Sept. 7.—Relatives of John Sheehan, the baseball player, who was found dead in Syracuse, believe he met with foul play and they will demand an investigation to ascertain how he came to his death.

Sheehan, who was a native of this city, and started as a ball player here was found dying in a swamp near Syracuse. He had been seen for three days by people living in that vicinity, and as their suspicions were aroused they informed the authorities.

AVIATION MEET LOST $25,000

Aviation meets do not pay. The aviators who received $25,520 for their exhibitions at the Squantum meet were dissatisfied with their portion. The Harvard Aeronautical Association, which conducted the meet, lost $25,000. As a result, there is likely to be no meet next year, unless private subscribers come to the rescue or a new financial system is discovered.

Fifty thousand attended this year's meet. Adam D. Claflin, manager of the affair, said this was less than one-half the attendance of last year. In 1910 the loss was $30,000, including expense of plant and grand stand. This year there was no such expense, so the loss must have been about $25,000.

Manager Claflin said to-day that rainy weather was the principal cause of this year's loss. Others said that the association charged too high a price for admission and reserved seats, and that this kept thousands away.

Others Make Money.

On the other hand, the Squantum meet put thousands of dollars into other people's pockets. It advertised the aviation at the fairs throughout New England and, as a result, their exhibitions were packed. At the end of Governor's Day at the Nashua Fair, for instance, the management threw bales of currency into the tonneau of an automobile, where it was packed down by the clerks' feet.

The bank where this was deposited straightened out more than ten thousand one-dollar bills to-day, to say nothing of those of larger denominations and baskets of coin.

"Will the loss result in calling off next year's meet?" Mr. Claflin was asked.

"It is too early to say now." "Next year is a long way off."

Several Boston men contributed $1,000 each to aid the association.

The deficit it is said, will wipe out practically all the funds in the association's treasury. It will be necessary to ask for unusually large contributions if other meets are to be held.

That the meet was a success from a flying viewpoint was evidenced by the enthusiasm manifested by the spectators and the work of the contestants.

To Wipe Out Treasury.

Prominent members of the Harvard Aeronautical Association, while not inclined to discuss the matter for publication, said that they did not believe it was possible to hold a meet at which all expenses would be cleared. They said that if other meets are to be held at Squantum it will be necessary to ask a large number of people to contribute, and they declared they feared there would be difficulty in raising the money.

ARMY ALTITUDE RECORD BROKEN

WASHINGTON, Sept. 7—A new altitude record for the army was made by Lieutenant Henry M. Arnold of the Army Aviation School at College Park, Md., when he reached a height of 5,079 feet. The previous record for the army flyers was 4,087 feet, made by the same officer. Arnold was in the air forty-two minutes. Arnold became a second lieutenant in the Twenty-ninth United States Infantry June 14, 1907, and still holds that rank.

$35000 FIRE IN PETERBORO, N. H.

PETERBORO, N. H., Sept. 7.—Fire destroyed the big grain elevator and adjoining buildings of this town early to-day, involving a loss of about $35,000. The blaze started in the elevator, which is owned by Walbridge & Taylor, the proprietors of a large grocery store. This was burned, and the Peterboro Transcript newspaper plant was gutted. The cause of the fire has not been determined.

SOUTH END GROUNDS, Sept. 7.—After a two days' lay-off the Rustlers met the Phillies at the old battling grounds this afternoon in a double-header.

The Rustlers were a pretty frisky bunch after humbling the mighty Rube Marquard in his own yard on Labor Day, and intended to show the visitors how they performed the stunt.

The Phillies were accompanied by three former Red Sox catchers, Tommy Madden, the popular Roxbury backstop; Tub Spencer and Jack Kleinow.

GERMAN REPLY AGREED UPON

BERLIN, Sept. 7.—Germany's formal reply to the ultimatum of France upon the Moroccan situation, was agreed upon to-day.

The Bourse and the conservative and influential newspapers to-day reflected less tension than for several weeks. While business is still almost paralyzed and all efforts to stay the run on the municipal savings bank at Stettin have proved unavailing, it is believed in official circles here that practically all danger of war is averted.

Dispatches from Paris say that there is still great nervousness in France, but that Paris has been given to understand that the danger point has been passed.

BEATTIE CHARGE TO JURY

CHESTERFIELD COUNTY COURTHOUSE, Va., Sept. 7.—The final stage in the trial of Henry Clay Beattie, Jr., charged with the murder of his wife, was reached to-day.

Judge Watson charged the jury and at the conclusion of his instructions came the final addresses of the lawyers for the Commonwealth and defence.

Judge Watson read his instructions to the jury. He pointed out that the burden of proof in murder in the first degree was on the Commonwealth, and if the degree is reduced to manslaughter, then the defence would have the burden of proving that there was no malice and pre-intent.

"To bring a verdict of not guilty," he pointed out, "such doubt should exist in the minds of the jury as reasonable men would consider not flimsy, but certain.

"In circumstantial cases the proof of guilt must be so strong that there must be no fact inconsistent with the contention by the Commonwealth that the accused is guilty. Every reasonable hypothesis of guilt must be established before a verdict of guilty can be reached."

At this juncture Judge Watson ordered Sheriff Gill to request all women except those connected with the press to leave. There were more women present when court convened than at any previous time during the trial. Continuing his instructions, Judge Watson declared that a confession out of court was doubtful evidence, and the jury should not convict on this alone.

Judge Fair to Prisoner.

"Evidence of the defendant's good character might be the means of creating reasonable doubt that a man of a peace-loving nature could have done such a brutal and awful murder," he said.

Judge Watson's charge to the jury was of eminent fairness to the prisoner. It was short and to the point, consuming less than half an hour. The court placed the main burden upon the Commonwealth, saying:

"The killing of a human being with malice aforethought is murder, and deliberate, wilful and premeditated killing is murder in the first degree. But it is not necessary that premeditation should have existed at any stated time.

"If you believe that the accused perpetrated this crime, you should find him guilty, but the entire burden of the proof rests upon the Commonwealth.

"If any reasonable doubt exists as to the guilt of the prisoner, it is your duty to find him innocent."

Beattie, nattily dressed, followed the

The woman was taken to the Massachusetts General Hospital.

HEN PROVES SHE CAN LAY 2 EGGS IN A DAY

ATHOL, Sept. 7.—Town people challenge the statement of Albert Ellsworth, a prominent citizen, that Mary Hooker, his prize buff Orpington, laid two eggs every day. Ellsworth appeared at the Athol fair and placed the hen on some straw at the feet of the judges. She laid two eggs, one of them double yolked, chirped a triumphant cackle and disdainfully strode away.

Political Notes.

The famous old Tammany headquarters on Hampden street, Roxbury, where Congressman Curley and his supporters have held forth for many years, is soon to be abandoned. The Ward 17 leader is looking about for a new wigwam, and the rooms of the old Mt. Pleasant Club at the corner of Dudley and Hampden street will probably be the headquarters selected.

It is a merry fight for the Democratic Senatorial nomination in the Ninth District. Former Assessor Francis J. Horgan, who was an ardent Lomasney man in Ward 8 some years ago but who later broke away from the Mahatma, is a candidate, and so is John J. Hoar, personal and political friend of Mayor Fitzgerald. Hoar comes from the Dorchester ward of the district and Horgan from the West Roxbury end.

The fraternal organizations and the Waiters' Union will be well represented on Beacon Hill if John J. Kearney gets a Democratic nomination to the House from Ward 2. He is business agent of the waiters' organization, vice-president of the Order of Owls and Worthy Chaplain of the Fraternal Order of Eagles.

Ex-Alderman Fred Finigan will probably be a candidate again for the City Council. He is being strongly urged to enter the field, particularly by his Jamaica Plain and West Roxbury supporters, in which districts he has always been handsomely supported in the past. He retired voluntarily from city politics after two years' service in the old Board of Aldermen, but last year was a candidate for Congress.

Frank C. McCoombs of New York, who is one of those managing the campaign of Governor Woodrow Wilson of New Jersey for the Democratic presidential nomination, does not intend to let Governor Judson Harmon of Ohio win all the honors at the Democratic City Committee barbecue on Saturday. McCoombs is in Boston interviewing the leaders and will be present on Saturday to see that the New Jersey executive is not overlooked in the political talk.

A CONDENSED STORY THAT IS TRUE AND SHOULD BE READ IN EVERY HOME

How Father John's Medicine Got Its Name.

Facts Guaranteed by $25,000.00 Offer to Prove Truth.

Endorsed by Physicians, Hospitals and Clergy. Cures Colds and All Throat and Lung Troubles

Before you start reading this we want you to know that the truth of the facts stated is guaranteed by the offer to give $25,000 to any charitable institution if it can be shown otherwise. This story has to do with a reverend clergyman, known and loved by all people of all classes and creeds in Lowell, Mass., whose life was saved by a doctor's prescription, which afterward bore his name.

Rev. Fr. John O'Brien, who was in charge of St. Patrick's Parish in Lowell, Mass., beginning in 1848, was an extremely energetic and able clergyman. Already run down from overwork, Father John was attacked with a serious cold which developed into a throat and lung affliction and a stubborn cough, causing great alarm for the clergyman's health. An eminent specialist gave him a prescription which was compounded on June 9, 1855, at the old drug store of Carleton & Hovey in Lowell, Mass., the oldest drug store in the city. The medicine prepared from this prescription accomplished splendid results; the cough disappeared and as he continued to take the medicine, Father John's whole system was built up and he was soon restored to his normal health. Then he began recommending the medicine to those of his parishioners who were afflicted in the same way as he had been. More and more people began to call at the old drug store asking for the medicine that Father John recommended. They naturally called it "Father John's Medicine" and so it became known in ever-increasing numbers as a family remedy of established value. The growth of the medicine during the last fifty years has been gradual and unceasing and today it is known as a family remedy of proven worth in thousands of homes from one end of the country to the other.

Father John's Medicine is an old-fashioned, wholesome and absolutely pure tonic and body builder, which heals throat and lungs, cures colds and all throat and lung troubles. We guarantee that it will do all that is claimed for it. It is not a patent medicine and it does not contain any alcohol or dangerous drugs in any form.

AIRSHIP BLOWS UP; TWO KILLED

STRASBURG, Germany, Sept. 7.—A motor explosion 500 feet in the air hurled an aeroplane carrying Lieutenant Neumann of the German aviation army corps and his passenger, M. Lecomte, to their death near Bilsleeln to-day.

The aeroplane in which they were riding was demolished. The aeroplane was flying on an even keel when the passengers suddenly heard an explosion high in the air. The burst of flame was seen from the machine, and it instantly began to sink. Lieutenant Neumann and Lecomte could be seen desperately clutching at the engine as the aeroplane shot earthward.

Before the tangled mass reached earth, however, the struggles of the men had ceased, indicating that they had been killed by the explosion.

The air machine with its burden of death struck the earth. Both bodies were terribly mangled. With the death of these two aviation claimed its seventy-third and seventy-fourth victims.

ASTOR'S VAIN SEARCH FOR MINISTER BLOCKS ALL PLANS TO MARRY

NEW YORK, Sept. 7.—While agents of Colonel John Jacob Astor are scouring Rhode Island, Connecticut and New York trying to find a clergyman who will marry the multi-millionaire and his fiancee, Miss Madeleine Force, this week, Colonel Astor declared to-day that so much had to be done that the ceremony could not take place for some time.

A heated conference between Colonel Astor, members of the Force family and several lawyers, was held at the Force residence at No. 18 East Thirty-seventh street early to-day. At times the voices could be heard upon the street. Colonel Astor left the house at an early hour, returning at 9 a. m., two hours earlier than his usual visits.

Clergymen who have turned down Colonel Astor's offers of a large fee—$1,000 in one case—say that the wedding was to take place to-day. The fact that all of them who have been approached have declined to act, because of adverse public criticism, led to the conclusion in society circles to-day that Colonel Astor had been compelled to delay his wedding because of inability to find the necessary clergyman. Miss Force refuses to have a civil marriage.

It is known, notwithstanding Colonel Astor's declaration that the wedding was not to occur so soon, that Beechwood, the Astor residence at Newport, is ready for the ceremony. Vincent Astor and all the servants are there and preparations seem to have been completed.

Spurns $1,000 Offer.

The Rev. Dr. Edward A. Johnson, pastor of the First Baptist church of Newport, reiterated to-day his statement that he had turned down an offer of $1,000 to perform the ceremony. The Rev. Frederick L. Brooks, pastor of the Methodist church of Little Compton, R. I., said that he had declined to act.

Col. Astor was questioned as he left the Force residence.

"Have you any date set for your marriage?" he was asked.

"No, Miss Force and I haven't reached that point yet," he said.

"We haven't even discussed the date. You know there remain to be done a great many little, yet important things before a date or a place can be taken up. Miss Force, for example, must get her trousseau, and that requires much time and running about."

"Have you heard that the Rev. Mr. Brooks of Little Compton, R. I., has declined to perform the ceremony?" he was asked.

"Have a cigar, my boy," was all that he would say.

Colonel Astor has been riding about in taxicabs, because his secretary has been using his touring car traveling about Connecticut in search of a clergyman.

The Rev. Dr. Edward A. Johnson of Newport, who was offered $1,000 to perform the ceremony, is in ill health and in sore financial straits.

Bad eyes are forcing his retirement, at least temporarily, from the ministry, but, despite this fact, he would have nothing to do with the marriage.

"I need money badly," said Dr. Johnson, "but not badly enough to marry Colonel Astor. On August 29 I was asked to call at the office of Colonel William P. Sheffield, Newport attorney for Colonel Astor. I did so and Colonel Sheffield informed me that he had a client who wanted to be married and who was willing to pay me $1,000 for the ceremony.

"I suspected at once that the client was Colonel Astor and I asked Colonel Sheffield if that was the fact. He flushed a trifle and replied that it was.

"Colonel Sheffield added that Colonel Astor wished to be married between September 4 and 6, but would set no definite time. It was a lot of money for me to refuse, but I told Colonel Sheffield that if it was many times as large I would have to decline."

The other clergyman who refused to marry the multi-millionaire and his pretty fiancee, the Rev. F. Louis Brooks, pastor of the Methodist church at Little Compton, R. I., was asked to act by Richard B. Comstock, a Providence attorney, who rode thirty-five miles from Providence to find some one in Little Compton who would perform the service.

No Newport License Yet.

It is presumed that Mr. Comstock canvassed the other churches, but the pastors have said nothing about the monetary offers made to them. Mr. Brooks is not a marrying parson, has a reputation for stern orthodoxy, and would be about the last person in the world to officiate at such a wedding.

"Mr. Comstock called on me," he said to-day, "and said that he was looking for a minister who would accommodate Colonel Astor by performing his marriage. As soon as he named the principal I informed him that, much as I would be pleased to serve under more favorable circumstances, I could not be a party to any violation of the rules of my church.

"I told him that the laws of the Methodist Episcopal Church forbid a minister conducting a marriage service where one of the contracting parties has been the offender in a divorce action and has a husband or wife living.

"There was no persuasion. Mr. Comstock said he respected my reasons. The ceremony, as I understand it, was to take place to-day at Newport."

Though Colonel Astor seems, according to the statements of these clergymen, in a great hurry to get married, no one, it was reported to-day, has been to consult City Clerk Fullerton of Newport about a marriage license. The Rhode Island State law requires that a woman resident of that State who desires to marry a non-resident must secure the marriage license at least five days before the marriage is performed. Both contracting parties must present themselves to the city clerk when the application for the license is made.

Rains Coins on Organist.

While Colonel Astor was in the Force home an organ grinder pulled a piano organ up to the curb and prepared for action. Then he grasped the handle and ground out in strident tones the melody of "There's Only One Girl in This World for Me."

Colonel Astor's face, wreathed in smiles, appeared at the window before the piece was half played. He pulled aside the curtains and began tossing quarters and half dollars at the astonished organist, who bowed and scraped and doffed his cap, and kept on playing as if his life depended on it.

Colonel Astor turned back into the room every little while and tried to get some one to come forward to see the fun. A few moments later the Colonel came down the steps and made straight for the grinder.

"That's all right," he said, as he dug down in his pocket and turned a handful of silver over to the Italian. "Go ahead and play it some more."

And the organ grinder kept at his task until the Colonel drove away in his taxicab.

VERDICT FOR WIDOW REVERSED BY COURT

The verdict awarded by the Superior Court to Mrs. Nellie Lydon against the Edison Electric Illuminating Company for damages for the death of her husband, who was killed by electricity, has been reversed because there was no witness to the accident. Lydon was removing brown tail moth nests from trees when he came in contact with a wire of the Edison company.

BRADY GIRL TOO ILL TO APPEAR

STOUGHTON, Sept. 7.—Merton G. Drew, the North Easton youth, accused of abducting pretty Florence M. Brady, seventeen years old, was arraigned to-day before Judge Marden on a charge of assault and was held in $1,000 bail for a hearing September 16.

The girl was too ill to appear in court to-day. She was found during the night unconscious on the lawn at the home of Charles H. Peck in High street, Randolph, after a search of two days.

Drew took Miss Brady to a moving picture show Monday night, and afterwards is accused of attacking her. He ran to his home in North Easton, where he was arrested.

Miss Brady wandered about for twenty-four hours without food and when found in Randolph she was exhausted.

Nearly everybody in Boston reads the AMERICAN.

FLORENCE BRADY, STOUGHTON GIRL, STRANGELY FOUND

FLORENCE BRADY

GIRL LEADER OF BANDITS HUNTED

Through the confessions of Harris Rothstein and Jacob and Joseph Goldberg, the police expect today to capture two more of the bandit gang whose world-wide depredations have startled the police of many cities.

They also hope to find Leontina Maurin, the beautiful young Lithuanian girl who was styled the "queen of the bandits" during the reign of terror of 1908 in Boston, and who is one of several girls credited with being the real moving spirits of the terrorists.

Leontina Maurin is twenty-five years old. She was eagerly sought by the police three years ago, but escaped them and fled to safety. She has never since been located.

Reveal All to Police.

One of the two men sought is believed to be the ringleader of the band which killed two policemen at Methuen; the other is thought to have been the companion of Edmund Guttman in the 1908 raid at Jamaica Plain, in which three were killed and sixteen wounded.

All three of the prisoners have told their stories to the police, but their confessions have been kept secret for fear of alarming the other two men if they are made public. Police inspectors are searching for the other suspects and if necessary will go to Europe to complete their search.

Joseph Goldstein is known as "Joe the Red," and Jacob Goldstein as "Itzsky the Mouse." They are under $45,000 bail each for the Samuel E. Ullian $15,000 jewelry burglary. Rothstein, the third of the trio, who was brought here from St. Petersburg, has already confessed. When the Goldsteins heard of his story, they made haste to tell Deputy Superintendent Watts their side. Each of them is eager to free himself at the expense of the others. The gang is split over a division of the spoils of their career of crime.

The record of crime revealed by the Goldbergs and Rothstein is one of the most amazing that has been laid bare in recent years. It covers an international reign of anarchy and pillage by a gang, some of whose ruling spirits made their headquarters in Boston and all of whom were under the influence of girl anarchists.

Crimes of the Gang.

The crimes include:

The running gun fight at Woburn in February, 1908, in which several were shot.

The shooting of Ignatius Myeyals, July 7, 1908, at Lynn.

The Forest Hills raid of July, 1908, in which three were killed and sixteen injured.

The Methuen ambuscade of August, the same year, in which two policemen were assassinated.

The shooting of Policeman Carroll and Shoe Manufacturer Thomas A. Londregan at Lynn, in June, 1909.

Numerous postoffice and store burglaries throughout New England.

The Houndsditch and Steinie Morrison murders in London a year ago, which resulted in the soldiers being called out to surround the headquarters of the Anarchists. In this case the place was burned and the Anarchist chiefs were killed.

THE POISONED SMILE OF THE MONA LIZA.

What spell did the great Leonardo paint into his "Joconde" that forces men to love and steal her and women to hate and destroy her?

COURT CONTEST ON MERGER VOTE

Attorney Charles H. Tyler, representing a number of stockholders of the West End Street Railway Company, opposed to the merger with the Boston Elevated, will contest the merger act and the vote of the West End stockholders in favor of consolidation in the courts. The vote of the stockholders in favor of the act was 221,770 in the affirmative to 79,349 in the negative.

Mr. Tyler raises the point that the merger act of the Legislature is void and unconstitutional and declares that the interests he represents voted under protest when the balloting on the question of the sale was made. Mr. Tyler also protests against the vote of the meeting to sell real estate of the West End Company valued at $1,500,000. He declares the latter decision was sanctioned by less than a majority of the whole stock or of either kind of stock.

Louis D. Brandeis, counsel for the Public Franchise League, said to-day that any litigation should not stand in the way of beginning at once upon the subway development of the city. He hailed the acceptance of the act as a public victory.

The Boston Transit Commission has already been preparing plans for the new subways under Chapter 741. They are the new Dorchester subway, which is to run from Park square to Andrew square in Dorchester, with a station at the South terminal, the Boylston street subway and an extension of the East Boston tunnel.

Word comes from the Elevated that the subway act will be accepted. Mayor Fitzgerald says that the new subways ought to be built, and that the city of Boston through its City Council and Mayor should accept the subway act. Governor Foss expressed satisfaction at the news that the act had been accepted, and said that there should be no hesitation about putting through the subway act.

CURRAN SUCCEEDS FRYE AS DIRECTOR

PORTLAND, Me., Sept. 7.—George A. Curran of Calais was elected a director to succeed the late Senator William P. Frye at a meeting of the directors of the Maine Central Railroad. Mr. Curran was a stockholder of the Washington County Railway, now a part of the Maine Central system.

Stubborn Colds May Lead to Consumption

Did you ever have a cold that would not let go; a cough that persisted, that prevented sleep, and made waking hours miserable? Eckman's Alterative is the proper remedy in such cases. Perhaps some simple medicine may be effective where it is only a tickling in the throat; but when your chest is sore and simple remedies don't answer—then take Eckman's Alterative. Neglect often leads to more serious trouble; a case in point follows: 718 Cherry St., Phila., Pa.

"Gentlemen: In July, 1903, I first noticed the conditions that showed I had Consumption. I lost weight rapidly; had a hollow cough, hemorrhages and very severe night sweats. My brother recommended Eckman's Alterative. In the Fall of 1903 I began to take it. At this time I am perfectly well and robust. My appetite is good and my weight has increased from 110 to 140 pounds. Not a trace of my old trouble remains. I will gladly express the merits of this medicine to anyone."

(Signed) M. L. GERHARDT.

Eckman's Alterative is effective in Bronchitis, Asthma, Hay Fever; Throat and Lung Troubles, and in upbuilding the system. Does not contain poisons, opiates or habit-forming drugs. For sale by all Riker-Jaynes stores, Houghton & Dutton drug dept., and other leading druggists. Ask for booklet of cured cases and write to Eckman Laboratory, Philadelphia, Pa., for additional evidence.

"PENNIES SAVED MEAN DOLLARS EARNED"

WE COULD get the same prices Friday for the goods here advertised, as on other days—

WE COULD substitute a cheaper line of goods, instead of marking down our regular stock on this Special Day—

But—COULD WE command the trade and confidence of the hundreds of housekeepers who must economize and count their pennies?

WE BELIEVE NOT! So we shall continue to offer every week, as heretofore, OUR VERY BEST

BAILEY DRIVEN FROM SENATORIAL CONTEST BY HEARST'S EXPOSE

GAINESVILLE, Tex., Sept. 7.—With gloomy impressiveness Joseph W. Bailey confirmed the announcement that he will not be a candidate for re-election to the United State Senate. His term will expire March 3, 1913.

Bailey declared his announcement is "emphatic and irrevocable," but would say nothing further except to intimate that he intends to associate himself with a prominent firm of lawyers in New York city when he retires from public life. He speaks bitterly about this and murmurs grandly about the "ingratitude of republics."

As a matter of fact, Bailey has read the handwriting on the wall. He knows that personal popularity in certain circles of his political party, the influence of the liquor traffic and the support of capital needing special privileges will not be strong enough to counteract the effect of the famous El Paso speech of William Randolph Hearst.

In that address Mr. Hearst literally tore to shreds the Bailey defence of bluster and buncombe that he had never been in relations with the Standard Oil Company, the Waters-Pierce Company, their agents or tools.

Senator Bailey will not strive for re-election, but the real reason is that he knows and feels that not only have his Democratic colleagues in the Senate repudiated him, but that the Democratic voters of Texas have done the same thing.

It was during the momentous journey of Hearst through the land in the campaign of 1908 that he made the El Paso speech. After expressing his detestation of the man who betrays the people, Mr. Hearst spoke of Senator Bailey's vehement denial and then produced the documents. The first was the photograph of a letter dated, Gainesville, Texas, March 23, 1901, as follows:

> Mr. H. C. Pierce, St. Louis, Mo.:
>
> My dear Pierce—Send me my exchange for $1,750. Have it made payable to my order so that it will not be necessary for you to indorse. Send it at once, as I ought to have had it several days ago. Your friend,
>
> J. W. BAILEY.

Next was the photograph of a note reading:

> Washington, March 1, 1901: Four months after date I promise to pay to the order of H. C. Pierce $8,000 at his office in St. Louis.
>
> J. W. BAILEY.

Also Mr. Hearst produced a photograph of a Waters-Pierce book entry. The Waters-Pierce Company was the Standard Oil subsidiary in Texas and Henry Clay Pierce of St. Louis was the trust's big man in charge of the fights to resist eviction from the State about that time. The book entry reads as follows:

> St. Louis, Mo., March 6, 1901.
>
> "For amount of loan to J. W. Bailey as per note in hands of treasurer, $8,000."

Orders From Archbold.

Then came a note from Mr. Pierce directing what was to be done in the matter and afterwards a letter from John D. Archbold, secretary of the Standard Oil Company, to Representative Joseph C. Sibley. It was an order for Sibley and Bailey to "step into the captain's office," as Mr. Hearst described it. It read:

> October 25, 1901.—My dear Mr. Sibley: We are anxious to have you here as early as possible with Senator Bailey, and I write to ask you if you will do us the favor to communicate with him and find out when he can be here.
>
> Greatly appreciating your service, I am, sincerely yours,
>
> JOHN D. ARCHBOLD.

It was later on testified, as Mr. Hearst showed, that Senator Bailey had appeared in No. 26 Broadway, New York City, the office of the Standard Oil Company, and there met the big man.

Later on when Mr. Sibley was attacked, Senator Bailey came like a roaring lion to his defence and defined him as a pure and unsullied patriot.

Mr. Hearst showed in his speech that in the particular note transaction upon the testimony of the secretary of the Waters-Pierce Company, the $8,000 note was later on charged to profit and loss.

Purer Political Air.

The political atmosphere in Texas is cleared for the first time in five years, for Baileyism, as it is called, has divided the State in every county and State campaign during this period.

Governor Oscar Colquit will be one of the candidates to succeed Bailey and the junior Senator from Texas has no hesitation in saying that if Colquit makes the race he will have his support, which means he will have the Baileyites to work for him and all the anti-Prohibitionists as well.

BEST JOKES OF THE YEAR—SEE THE GREAT CITY LIFE SECTION OF THE SUNDAY AMERICAN

MAYOR AND LAWSON JUDGES FOR HEARST SEA-TO-SEA FLIGHT

Mayor Fitzgerald and Thomas W. Lawson are the Boston members of the national committee which will have general supervision of the great flights by noted aviators across the continent in competition for the prize of $50,000 offered by William Randolph Hearst.

With them will serve R. F. Loukum, chairman of the St. Louis and San Francisco lines, and Hudson Maxim, inventor and authority on aircraft, representing New York City. Brigadier General Ramsay D. Potts, U. S. A., commanding the central division, Department of the Lakes and Rear Admiral Albert Ross, U. S. N., representing Chicago, are two prominent men each from Los Angeles and San Francisco. These noted men will have general control of the greatest air race in history and settle all disputes.

Mayor Greatly Interested.

Mayor Fitzgerald has displayed a keen interest in anything ever since he made a flight with Orthman White at the Harvard-Boston meet at Squantum last year. He is a warm friend of Harry Atwood and has followed this year's Squantum meet several times. The Mayor was one of the first to congratulate Earle L. Ovington when he completed his flight about New England on Labor Day.

Thomas W. Lawson, the great foe of "the System," is known throughout America. His yacht, the Independence, his model houses, his packs of hounds, his carrier pigeons are the pride of New England.

Whatever the sport may be, it it appeals to the full-blooded man, Mr. Lawson is in it. For this reason he is despondent at Squantum. He has been one of the most constant visitors at the meet at Squantum. Beyond the realm of sport, he sees in the aeroplane vast possibilities of transportation of the future. He is personally acquainted with many of the aviators and is eager to contribute his financial services to make the transcontinental flight a success.

Atwood Will Fly.

Harry N. Atwood, hero of the great flight from St. Louis to New York announced positively today he would enter the transcontinental flight. He said to an AMERICAN reporter:

"Despite rumors and stories to the contrary, I am going to fly for the Hearst prize.

"I have made my official entry and I consider that sufficient guarantee of my sincerity. I did not want to enter officially until I was in a position to make the flight. Had I entered and found that my equipment was not capable of making the event, then I would have been looked upon as insincere.

"The Burgess-Wright biplane has already been shipped to Los Angeles. This machine is of the regular stock type, similar to the biplane I used in my St. Louis to New York flight. I shall ship the rest of my equipment at an early date, and I hope to come into the city of New York before the expiration of the time limit."

E. J. Coton, manager for Atwood, today said:

"Atwood can win that Hearst prize. If not I am certain, I consider him not only the greatest cross-country flier in this country, but the best all-around flier in the world. There is no man better qualified to win the Hearst prize."

Atwood's equipment will consist of three Burgess-Wright biplanes. He will use regular Wright motors of thirty horsepower and will follow the southern route. He has not as yet been able to come to any definite arrangement about a special train to follow his trip. He will start from the Pacific coast September 10.

"The race across the continent for the Hearst prize will be the most wonderful thing the world has ever seen," said Hudson Maxim, in accepting an invitation to serve with the other notable men on the international committee. Maxim, who is internationally famous as the inventor of Maximite and other high explosives, is a brother of Sir Hiram Maxim, the inventor of the Maxim gun. His current plans for an aerial navy in lectures and numerous publications have created much interest. He is the inventor of a gun to be used against airships and a shell to use in it. $170,783 for terminal yards

ALTA HOWARD, WHO WAS LURED FROM SPRINGFIELD HOME

ALTA HOWARD.

Search is being made in Boston for eight-year-old girl who disappeared from Springfield on Tuesday.

MAINE CENTRAL REPORTS GAINS

There was a slight increase in operating revenues on the Maine Central Railroad during the past year, according to preliminary reports made today by President Mellen. There was a considerable increase in operating expenses, due in part to increased cost of labor.

Of a total of $2,867,225 expended for additions and betterments during the past year, $2,168,644 was for equipment and $170,783 for terminal yards

SEEK KIDNAPED GIRL IN BOSTON

J. W. Steele of Springfield, attorney for Mr. and Mrs. Edward G. Howard of that city, comes to Boston to-day to search for eight-year-old Alta Howard, niece of the Howards, who was kidnaped by "a woman in black" Tuesday noon and who is believed to have been brought to Boston.

The Howard family's lawyer says, according to dispatches from Springfield today, that he saw this "woman in black" ride in a street car to the Howard home. His description of her to Mrs. Howard coincides. Mrs. Howard says, with the description of Alta's mother, Mrs. Anna Patience Kidder of Boston.

Alta is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Kidder, who were divorced six years ago, when Alta was two years old. The child was given into custody of the father, who entrusted her to the Howards. The latter made every effort to keep their residence secret from the mother. They formerly lived in Sunderland, but recently moved to Springfield. Mrs. Anna Patience Kidder formerly lived in the Watertops district of Springfield, but recently moved to Boston.

The Howards would like to adopt Alta legally, but Mr. Kidder is unwilling to surrender the child to that extent, though he has let her live with the Howards. Mr. Kidder has married a second time.

315 DETAINED FROM ROMANIC

The White Star liner Romanic arrived at quarantine early today from Mediterranean ports and the Azores with 943 passengers. There were 532 steerage in this number, but Dr. Francis X. Crawford, the newly appointed port physician, decided that only the 315 who came aboard at Naples should be transferred to the cholera quarantine quarters at Gallop's Island. Dr. Crawford found that no cases of sickness had appeared on the two-to-day voyage. The United States marine hospital surgeons in Italy have weeded out emigrants so carefully before allowing them to take passage that Dr. Crawford was able to keep the Gallop's Island number down to this proportion.

Transfer of the 315 Neapolitans was made via the health tug Vigilant. Examination of the Neapolitans on the island began as soon as they were landed. After the transfer was effected the Romanic was allowed to proceed to the Hoosac Tunnel docks in Charlestown, her saloon passengers having already been taken there on the excursion steamer Griswold.

Among the returning passengers were Dr. Francis D. Donoghue of Boston, who has been abroad several months studying sanitary conditions, water supply and the latest surgical developments. Dr. Timothy Leary, professor of pathology at Tufts Medical and medical examiner for Suffolk County, went down on the customs tug Winnisimmet to meet Dr. Donoghue

LITTLE HOPE IN GARRETT HUNT

Relatives in Charlestown received a telegram to-day that while the search is being continued on Mount Rainier, Wash., for Leigh Garrett, the nineteen-year-old Boy who has lost while trying to reach the summit of the eminence, that there is little hope for him.

The telegram was from W. C. Weeks, a brother of Congressman John W. Weeks, who is leading the searching expedition. The information was received by Hardy G. Garrett, an uncle of the lost young man, who is connected with a soap firm in Charlestown. The telegram was dated at North Bend, Wash., at 6 a. m. to-day, having been sent to the office by messenger from the mountain. It was in substance as follows:

"Leigh Garrett was reported caught in a storm while seeking the summit of Mount Rainier. Rescuing party is trying to find him. Have not succeeded yet. Not much hope for him. W. C. WEEKS."

Since word reached his uncle that it was feared that young Garrett was lost he has been trying to find him through newspapers and others in Washington. Yesterday he received discouraging news. It was to the effect that an expedition had gone up the mountain and had failed to find the young man. The last trace of him was 4,000 feet up the mountain, where all trace of him was lost. On account of stormy weather the members of the expedition, half a dozen in number, and returned.

NO SANCTION FOR ROAD STRIKE

CHICAGO, Sept. 7.—After members of the international committee, representing unions involved in the dispute with the Illinois Central Railroad Company, had refused to sanction a strike of the federated shop employes of the road, definite action of any character was deferred until members of the executive board of the International Association of Machinists should meet in this city next Sunday.

The international committee decided that it would be unwise to grant the sanction of the international organizations to the threatened strike

POMEROY'S 36TH YEAR IN PRISON

To-day marks the beginning of Jesse Pomeroy's thirty-sixth year in solitary confinement at the State Prison in Charlestown. There is no other prisoner in the country that has served a sentence of equal length in a solitary cell.

Pomeroy entered the prison to serve a life sentence in solitary confinement. This was the commutation of sentence that was made by Governor Rice on account of Jesse's extreme youth. He was but a boy at the time. The jury returned a verdict of guilty in his case and the youthful murderer was sentenced to be hanged.

With the passing of time, conditions have been bettered for Pomeroy, but he has not shown that he was appreciative of the treatment accorded him. He is the same sly, untrustworthy Jesse Pomeroy who was first placed in a solitary cell at the prison.

To-day will be like other days that have passed for the noted prisoner. He will have all his meals served in his cell and will exercise in the yard, when the other inmates are at work. The rest of the day he will spend reading. That is all that he has done for years when he was not plotting a way to escape or was not fashioning some crude and roughly made instrument to aid him in a hopeless attempt to gain his way to the outer world that he has not seen for almost two score years.

It was only recently that Jesse Pomeroy made a stock bit and drill of a piece of wood, a handle from a water pail and a wire nail. The tool was really wonderful, when the time Pomeroy spent in fashioning it and the fact that he was compelled to keep an eye out for the guards are considered. It was said that Jesse had spent eight months in making the tool, but it was all in vain. A guard had seen him with the instrument and it was taken away from him.

Never Ceases Plotting.

He is said to be the most guarded prisoner in the institution, and if he was able to make his way out of his solitary cell, it would be a wasted effort, as he would find himself in a corridor always guarded by a prison officer. Should he evade this guard, Pomeroy would have to scale a high wall constantly patroled by an armed guard.

Pomeroy knows all these things, yet from the first day that he entered the prison he has planned and plotted a way to freedom. He has never given up. Day and night the world-noted murderer is watching his chance.

When Jesse was sentenced to solitary, it was noticed by the warden of the prison that time was hanging heavily on the youth's hands. He was given cane chairs to reseat. Jesse soon tired of the work. He told the warden that he would do no more work for the State, and he has kept his word. In days gone by threats were used, but to no avail. In later years, cajolery and promises of assistance to make his burden lighter met only with a growl and a grimace.

When Jesse entered on his long term he was totally illiterate. The prison has a library of many thousand volumes, and Jesse has access to them. He has taken advantage of the books' contents. This illiterate boy has educated himself, so that to-day he is considered a well read and well informed man. Pomeroy has mastered many languages. No study or problem has been too difficult. He has improved his mind but not his actions.

Pomeroy Never Smiles.

The continual vigilance placed over him on the day that he entered his solitary cell is continued to-day. No change has been made on that score in the thirty-five years that Pomeroy has been confined.

Pomeroy has been likened to Dumas' famous "Man in the Iron Mask." Pomeroy has never been known to smile. Not even when his aged mother has called for her monthly visit. That is the only visitor that he has. The same expressionless stare greets her that is accorded prison guards with whom he comes in daily contact.

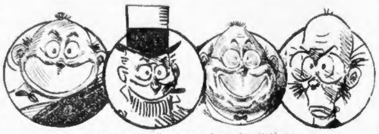
Sundays and holidays mean nothing to Jesse. Last Christmas, when the guard entered Pomeroy's cell with a bountiful spread, the guard greeted the prisoner with a smile and a wish for a "Merry Christmas." In return the prisoner threw the tray containing the dishes and food at the guard.

The Immunity Mug

By MORTON BIRGE.

The sleuths have invented a way they can trace
A chap who has gotten himself in disgrace,
Providing he carries a regular face,
One not crooked.

The time used to be when a natural "stint"
For a cop to lay for a guy with a squint,
A prizefighter's ear or some other broad hint
To describe him.



(Mr. Opper offers some faces for listing.)

It's different now. They have made up a chart
On which they have marked each particular part,
They classify these and then learn 'em by heart
And by number.

Of ears they have classes from round unto square,
And three kinds of noses are classified there,
And all the collection of eyes that we wear,
With their color.

A man with a perfectly regular map
Is easily listed. His face is a snap.
The one the police will have trouble to trap
Can't be listed.

(Miss Brinkley has some faces for the police to list.)

The thug with a face like a fish in distress,
Whose ears are like peanuts, whose eyes are still less,
Whose map is a physiological mess,
He is lucky.

They cannot describe him. He doesn't belong;
He never was listed in story or song;
He can't be arrested, no matter how wrong.
They can't touch him.

DEFENDS PARK BOARD COURSE

William de las Casas, chairman of the Metropolitan Park Commission, issues a vigorous answer to criticisms made of the commission in regard to the Charles River basin by Earl F. Gates of the Boston 1915 committee. Mr. Gates said, among other comments, that "the slow ponderings and plannings" of the commission and too constant attention to the wishes of favored residents of Beacon street are responsible for much that, in Mr. Gates's opinion, is unsatisfactory in the management of the Charles River basin and its approaches.

Mr. de las Casas says that the work of the commission in the past is sufficient vindication, also that Mr. Gates has not tried to get at the facts in regard to the plans already prepared for the basin. The chairman of the commission says that the basin dam has been prepared for tree planting, but that the actual planting has been postponed to next spring on account of the heavy Winter winds. Trees are to be planted, also, along the esplanade.

Mr. de las Casas says that adequate police protection has been provided, every reasonable request for regattas has been granted, skaters have been protected, roller skating has been allowed on the esplanade, benches and drinking fountains have been installed, sun shelters have been put up experimentally to ascertain the best locations, boat landings have been allowed and other arrangements made for public interest. Other improvements are contemplated, but it has not been thought wise to spend too much public money till it was clearly demonstrated in just what ways the public interest can be ministered to best.

EVERETT HOUSE IS DAMAGED BY FIRE

Fire in the house at No. 40 Cabot street, Everett, caused a loss of $1,500. Harry Brigham, who with his wife and parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Brigham, lived in the first floor of the building which was a two-flat house, discovered the blaze as he was returning home. He tried to enter the front door to extinguish the blaze, but the fire drove him back. He sounded the alarm. The first floor was wrecked, and the second floor damaged by fire, smoke and water.

NAVY DYNAMITE PLOT RIDICULED

Commander N. E. Irwin, aide to the commandant of the Charlestown Navy Yard, referring to the story of a dynamite plot in to-day's Boston Post, made the following statement:

"The story printed in some of the morning papers is all bosh. The man who wrote it should have his stern-sheets kicked clear across the State. There was no dynamite plot in the yard.

"When this crane sank about three months ago a contractor was given the job of raising it. He used dynamite to blow out a bulkhead, so that he might pump water out of the crane more easily. In using the dynamite one stick of it was left on the crane in an inconspicuous place, and was found there by a workman last Saturday. The stick of dynamite was given to the foreman.

"There was no danger of an explosion. No fuse was attached to the dynamite. The workmen did not quit work and were not frightened. There was nothing to be afraid of. Dynamite is being continually used in the yard."

GIRL'S SKULL BROKEN BY FALLING CHIMNEY

While at play in a yard at No. 1119 Cambridge street, Cambridge, Theresa Donovan, fourteen, of No. 378 Norfolk street, was struck on the head by several bricks from a toppling chimney. Her skull was fractured and she was removed to the Cambridge Relief Hospital in a dangerous condition. The building is owned by Daniel H. Hurley. It is believed the high wind loosened the bricks.

MONA LISA REPORTED TO BE IN AMERICA

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Sept. 7.—John E. Wilkie, chief of the Secret Service, who is on his tour of inspection, is on the lookout for Leonardo da Vinci's Mona Lisa, stolen from the Louvre, in Paris. The Secret Service Bureau is said to have information that the painting was smuggled across the boundary from Canada at a point west of the Great Lakes.

LAURIER SURE OF BIG VICTORY

TORONTO, Sept. 7.—Sir Wilfrid Laurier is again having his innings in Ontario, addressing large meetings at Alexandria, Coburg, Stratford, Sudbury and Windsor. He is full of confidence.

"Unless all signs fail," he declared, "the indorsement of reciprocity by the Canadian people is as sure as it is that yonder sun shines."

Reciprocity campaigners scored a victory when M. J. Howell of Battleford announced his retirement from Dominion election campaign in Battleford, Saskatchewan, leaving the field to a former member, Champagne, and an Independent named McMaManus, both of whom are pledged to reciprocity.

R. L. Borden, speaking in opposition to the reciprocity pact with the United States before a large audience in St. John, refused to discuss the question of annexation to the United States or to give his opinion as to the probability of reciprocity leading to annexation.

Instead he quoted from newspaper articles which tended to show that President Taft and other Americans would not object to annexation. He condemned the reciprocity move and declared that it meant the ruin of Canadian fisheries and farming.

The American colony of Summer visitors united with some 3,000 Canadians in giving Sir Wilfrid Laurier an enthusiastic reception at Coburg. Reciprocity and its advantages was the keynote of the premier's address. Hon. G. P. Graham, minister of railways, predicted that the adoption of the pact would give Canada a considerable portion of the carrying trade now held by the United States.

Louis D. Taylor, Mayor of Vancouver, B. C., and editor and proprietor of a leading daily newspaper, the World, is enthusiastic over the outlook for reciprocity.

"After a trip across Canada from Vancouver to Montreal, and talking with many prominent men of different sections," he said, "I am convinced that Sir Wilfrid Laurier will be returned as premier by as large a majority in the House as he now has. While he may lose a few seats in Quebec and Ontario, he will fully make up for it by gains in Manitoba and Alberta."

BEULAH BINFORD FREED AS BEATTIE TRIAL ENDS

Judge's Charge to Jury Considered Very Much in Favor of Accused Youth.

instructions closely and both he and his lawyer regarded them as strictly favorable to the defence.

Discredits Cousin's Story.

"In this case where the evidence is largely circumstantial, based largely upon the testimony of Paul Beattie, the benefit of every doubt should be given to the prisoner," continued the Court. "In the case of an alleged confession, such as the prisoner is said by Paul to have been made to him, and which, if made at all, was made out of court, but little consideration should be given to it."

Character evidence was then discussed by the judge, after which he said:

"Before the jury can convict the defendant in this case, it must be shown conclusively that the defendant and not some one else committed the crime.

"The jury has no right to disregard the testimony of the defendant because he is the defendant. Each juror must be satisfied in his own mind of the defendant's guilt before he can give a verdict of guilty."

Judge Watson gave his instructions under twenty-two numbered heads.

Judge Gregory began the prosecution's argument to the jury at 10.55. He found himself facing a hard task, as it was the opinion of almost everybody in the room that Beattie had won his fight for life, as a result of the instructions given by the court.

Summing Up for State.

The judge had practically demolished the commonwealth's strongest point—the testimony of Paul Beattie, the prisoner's cousin and the State's strongest witness, who swore that Henry Beattie had confessed the murder to him.

Judge Gregory's address was calm and dispassionate. Without any flights of oratory he branded Beattie as the slayer of his wife.

Mr. Wendenberg to-day stated that he attached little importance to a letter sent to him from Louisville in which a farmhand who formerly worked near the scene of the murder of Mrs. Beattie declared that he witnessed the shooting and claimed to detail the events before and after the tragedy.

Beulah Binford Freed.

Paul Beattie, the defendant's cousin, upon whose story the State expects to send the youth to the electric chair, was released from the Henrico County jail today on order of Judge Watson. Beulah Binford was also given permission to leave the jail, but said she would wait for nightfall. "Then it's Broadway for mine," she added.

Later the girl changed her mind and decided to leave the jail. When she departed a crowd numbering about 1,500 blocked the street and the police reserves had to be called out to clear the trolley tracks. None of Beulah's relatives was present to see her depart. She got into an automobile and went to the railroad station, where she took the 12:01 train North. The young woman seemed to enjoy all the excitement of her departure.

"I have accepted a theatrical contract in New York and am going there to fill my engagement," she said. The money for her trip was provided by the theatrical people.

To his jailer Beattie said to-day as he ate breakfast:

"I had a good night's rest, and I slept well. I'm certain of freedom yet. If I don't get out this time I feel satisfied that I will be freed at the December term of court. I feel this way because I know I am innocent. I could not possibly feel otherwise."

Goes to Jury To-morrow.

The rumor that the trial would be reopened by the State was denied shortly before court opened by Judge Gregory, the State's attorney. He said:

"We have no information upon which we could think of reopening the case."

Just before court was called to order Mr. Wendenburg was asked:

"What chance is there of the case going to the jury to-day?"

"None in the world," he replied.

"Will it reach the jury to-morrow?"

"It certainly will."

No limitation has been placed upon counsel as to length of argument.

In reference to the "eye witness letter" Attorney Wendenberg said:

"I now attach little importance to it. Of course if the statements made in it could be verified, the case would have to be reopened, but I have not the slightest belief that they could be, and think that it is perfectly safe to assert that neither side will try to introduce any more evidence. The letter came from Louisville."

Since the beginning of the trial Prosecutor Wendenberg has been receiving letters. Some of them offer advice. He read them all and tossed them aside. But there was a lot in the letter of today that was obviously sane and reasonable.

Wording of Letter.

In effect the letter was as follows:

"On and before the night of Tuesday, July 8, 1911, I worked as a farm hand for —— on the Midlothian turnpike. That night, when I was about to go to bed I heard one of the cows was missing and went to hunt for it in the woods alongside the turnpike.

"When I got to the road side I heard angry voices—a man and a woman were talking. I got to the place where I could see them sitting in an automobile that had stopped. Then I hid behind a tree. The man said: 'I'm sick and tired of this sort of thing. I'm going to put an end to it.' The woman pleaded with him. She talked about how they had loved each other and how happy they had been together. She was begging for mercy. But the man kept on being angry. Finally she got mad, too, and said: 'Well, how are you going to end it?'

"The man said: 'I'll show you.'

Describes Shooting.

"He got out of the machine and walked to the side of the road. When he started to come back he had a gun in his hand. The woman screamed and started to get out of the automobile from the left hand side forward seat, where she had been sitting during the argument. He hit her over the right side of the head with the gun and she fell into the road on her face.

"The man stood there for some time looking at her. I saw, and he saw, that she gave a little movement of the body. Then I heard him say: 'You're not dead yet, but I'll fix you.'

"Then the man—he was young and with a clean shaven face—pointed the gun at the woman as she lay in the road, and shot her.

"He stood for another moment looking down at her. Then I got over my first scare, and came out from behind the tree. I walked to him, and he said: 'Well, did you see this?'

"I told him I did. He said: 'What in —— are you going to do about it?'

"The young man had a gun and I was unarmed (so the letter continues) and I told him I wasn't going to do anything. He threatened me for a time with his weapon.

"After a little talk he told me to come to his father's store in South Richmond the next day and see him.

"I went there and he gave me money. He bought me a suit of clothes, too, and a railroad ticket.

"I hung around Richmond and South Richmond for a couple of days until I heard they were going to arrest Henry Clay Beattie, Jr., then I went away. I didn't intend to tell anybody about this, but my conscience got to working and so I write you this letter."

The first thing Mr. Wendenberg did upon receiving this missive was to send Detective Jarrell and Wiltshire to the farm of the man for whom the writer worked in July. To these officers the farmer said: "Yes, I had a man named —— working for me. He disappeared July 19. The night before I sent him to look for a lost cow, and he never came back."

LOGAN TO TAKE BRIDE TO-NIGHT

Thomas H. Logan of Lynn to-night marries Miss Edith Manning, the chum of his daughter. The ceremony will be performed at St. Mary's Church, Lynn.

After the wedding they will go to Europe on their honeymoon, after which they will live in a new $50,000 mansion, which was designed by Miss Eleanor T. Manning, a sister of the bride, thus completing a remarkable three-sided romance.

Thomas H. Logan is a shoe manufacturer. Fifteen years ago, at forty, he began the shoe manufacturing business in a small way with a partner named Walton. When Logan withdrew four years ago his share of the business was worth $400,000. He erected a big shoe factory in Washington street, where he employs 2,000 men. Fortunate investments have increased his wealth to more than a million.

His first wife died ten years ago. She left one child, Miss Frances Logan. At the Lynn High School she met Miss Manning and they became chums. Miss Manning is but twenty-two, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James E. Manning of No. 206 Beacon Hill street, Lynn. Miss Logan introduced her father to her chum, who is a graduate of Smith College, and the engagement followed.

HALIFAX, N. S., Sept. 7.—Trouble with the machinery of the liner Carmania, which put in here on her way from Plymouth, Eng., to New York, may result in the landing of the 1,400 passengers at Halifax to be forwarded by rail to New York. Forwarding arrangements are pending.

CASCARETS FOR A SICK, SOUR STOMACH

Gently but Thoroughly Cleanse and Regulate Your Stomach, Liver and Bowels While You Sleep.

That awful sourness, belching of acid and foul gases; that pain in the pit of the stomach, the heartburn, nervousness, nausea, bloating after eating, feeling of fullness, dizziness and sick headache, means indigestion; a disordered stomach, which cannot be regulated until you remove the cause. It isn't your stomach's fault. Your stomach is as good as any.

Try Cascarets; they cure indigestion, because they immediately cleanse and regulate the stomach, remove the sour, undigested and fermenting food and foul gases; take the excess bile from the liver and carry off the decomposed waste matter and poison from the intestines and bowels. Then your stomach trouble is ended forever. A Cascaret tonight will straighten you out by morning—a 10-cent box from any drug store will keep your entire family feeling good for months. Don't forget the children—their little insides need a good, gentle cleansing, too.

PORKY FLYNN HAS EASY TIME IN BOUT WITH SMITH

BOSTON AMERICAN SPORTS

BARGAIN DAY FOR BALL FANS AT SOUTH END GROUNDS

Porky Flynn Declared Winner In Fast Battle Against Smith

NEW YORK, Sept. 7.—Porky Flynn defeated Jim Smith of the Bronx last night at the Fairmont A. C., but as a fighter had nothing to brag about, his sole stock-in-trade being his ability to take punishment and hang on to his opponent.

Smith waded right into the big man who opposed him, Flynn weighing probably thirty pounds more than the Bronx fighter. When Smith cut in Flynn would hang on and butt. Smith had all the better of the opening session. In the second round Porky evened up matters by jabbing and getting out of close work, although Smith caused him to know that he was in a battle.

Smith forced the going in the third round, Flynn ripping in some blows to the kidneys which he was holding his man. Just at the bell there was an exchange of rights. Round even.

Flynn jabbed repeatedly beginning the fourth, and caught Smith on the jaw with a right when he was rebounding from the ropes. Following this he punished him with blows to the stomach. Although Smith was getting all the worst of it, he was there and parted with a right just before the bell that staggered his bulky opponent, who after delivering a blow was prone to hang on. Flynn's round.

Flynn started the jabbing tactics in the fifth round, interspersing his blows with hooks to the wind. Flynn repeatedly held Smith's glove, although having much the better of it at this stage.

Smith rushed starting the sixth session, throwing his right over, but the blow was ineffective. Flynn refused to go to his man, who was compelled to do all the work, for which eagerness he suffered, being smothered with jabs and kidney punches, the latter being delivered when Flynn was holding his man.

Smith made a gallant stand in the seventh round, laughing at Flynn's blows on the kidneys. He certainly beat Flynn, the latter contenting himself by holding on his lighter opponent at every chance. Smith's round.

Smith missed two vicious lefts early in the eighth. Flynn sending in some jabs. They exchanged rights, but the big man hung on. Smith was too willing to do the work and missing many rights, waded into stinging counters. Flynn had the best of the session.

Smith continued to force matters in the ninth, but was missing too frequently. He was invariably stung with blows on the face after which there would be a clinch. Smith was inclined to hang on toward the end of the round. Flynn's round.

Smith waded in the last round, but missed often, Flynn coming back with hooks to the wind and face. Smith's wild swings to the head availed him nothing, they being mostly all glancing blows. Flynn checked Smith's rushes with uppercuts, which apparently hurt. Smith cut Flynn's mouth just as the bell rang at the end of the bout.

RED SOX AGAIN TACKLE CHAMPS

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 7.—Patsy Donovan, manager of the Red Sox, to-day stated that he would in all probability make another change in his batting order as he determined to stop the losing streak which the Hub boys have struck.

The double defeat handed the Red Sox yesterday afternoon by the Athletics was a bitter pill for the Boston bunch to digest as they figured on getting at least an even break.

Connie will send his boys after to-day's game right from the start and big Jack Coombs will face the Sox in the third test. Coombs is pitching great ball just now and it looks as though the Speed Boys were in for another defeat.

Larry Pape will pitch for the Red Sox and the Athletics are anxious to get a crack at the Cincinnati boy as he put a stop to their winning streak in Boston a week ago and they are after revenge. Nunamaker will be behind the bat.

Nov. 30—Alumni at Brockton.

BATTLING NELSON IS ON HIS WAY HERE

CHICAGO, Sept. 7.—Battling Nelson left here last night for Boston to train for three bouts. "I'm a bit above the lightweight limit now," said the ex-champion, "but by the time I meet Billy Nixon September 19, I'll be down to weight.

"Two weeks after that I'll tackle Young Saylor, the Hoosier idol, who aspires to championship honors, and in another fortnight I'll meet one of Saylor's old rivals, Matty Baldwin. All will be twelve-round bouts and staged in Boston."

HILLSGROVE RACES HELD UP BY RAIN

HILLSGROVE, R. I., Sept. 7.—The horse races at the State fair and the proposed flight of Eugene B. Ely in his biplane over Providence were postponed yesterday because of unfavorable weather. The fair will be extended one day as a consequence.

CASEY HAGERMAN AND O'BRIEN TO JOIN SOX

DENVER, Sept. 7.—Tom O'Brien and Casey Hagerman, two of the pitching mainstays of the Denver Western League club, are on their way to join the Boston Americans.

SPORT GOSSIP

The action of Ed Smith, referee of the recent Gotch and Hackenschmidt match, in declaring all bets off has raised a howl from all who laid their money on Gotch. Several letters have been sent to the sporting editor of the AMERICAN asking to settle the question. There is no need to settle the question. The question has been settled and settled by the one man who had the power to do so, and that was the referee. All bets should be declared off. Those that bet on Gotch and have collected the money should return it to its rightful owner, for it is only stealing the money.

A pitcher of the New England League who loses a game these days is taking a great chance of being accused of throwing the game. Two men have already been accused of this. They are C. Bradley Hogg, formerly of Haverhill, but now a member of the Rustlers, and Jack Bushelman of New Bedford. Bushelman has been purchased by the Red Sox and was to have reported next week. The charge against Bushelman is that he did not try to win his game against Fall River on Labor Day morning.

"Syndicate Baseball," which created such a stir in major league baseball circles a short time ago, is about to be aired again. The latest one to bring up the charge is Barney Dreyfuss, president of the Pittsburg team of the National League. Barney is sore over the action of Thomas J. Lynch, president of the National League, in suspending Sherwood Magee, of the Philadelphia club and then raising the suspension. Barney is out after the scalp of Lynch and intends to get it at any cost, even if he has to give the secrets of the National League to the general public.

Come along Barney, let's have them. The public deserves to be on the inside. If the charge made by Dreyfuss, that John T. Brush, owner of the New York Giants, is also owner of the Rustlers, is true it is time that the Boston fans knew something about the deal.

TWO BIG GOLF TOURNAMENTS

The announcement of the two open tournaments for the last two days of this week at the Commonwealth Country and the Bellevue Golf clubs will give those golfers who are not going to New York for the national meeting a splendid chance to win first honors in an open tournament before the season closes.

At Commonwealth play will start on Friday morning, and a large field has already sent in their entries. Eighteen holes medal handicap will rule, and there will be prizes for the best gross and net scores of the two days.

At Bellevue, which is a Melrose club of no little merit, the competition will be practically the same, with gross and net trophies.

These two tourneys although lasting for two days, will be handled as a one-day tournament and a contestant may choose either Friday or Saturday to play. Many Bay State golfers are intending to take in both of the meetings. Post entries will be allowed, and luncheon will be served at the club.

DARTMOUTH COACH STARTS WORK TO-DAY

HANOVER, N. H., Sept. 7.—Frank Cavanaugh, '99, the new head coach of Dartmouth varsity football, arrived at Hanover yesterday afternoon for his season's work with the "big green team." Assisted Coach Larry Bankhart, '01, is also in town and Joe Gilman, '05, is expected to-day.

The coach some time ago notified the men to return to Hanover by the middle of the present week. A large delegation is expected to-day and practice will be started at 3 o'clock at Alumni Oval. Special attention will be given the backfield and centre. Kicking will also be perfected.

SHEPPARD TO QUIT ATHLETICS

NEW YORK, Sept. 7.—Melvin W. Sheppard, the premier middle distance runner of the Irish-American A. C., has decided to forsake athletics after next year. Sheppard has promised to do his utmost to help in the Olympic championships in Sweden next Summer, but after that, he maintains, he will be through for good.

It is said that Martin Sheridan, the great champion discus thrower, as well as George Bonhag, will follow Sheppard's lead and retire after next year.

The loss of Sheridan, fortunately, will not be as severe a blow as it would have been a couple of years ago. It is said that James Duncan, who now competes unattached, and who was formerly a member of the Mohawk A. C., will succeed to Sheridan's exalted place in the Irish-American A. C.

Right now Duncan appears to be the greatest discus thrower in the country. Twice recently he has beaten Sheridan from the same mark. Of course Sheridan still holds the record, but he is reputed to be on the decline. One thing is sure—Martin is not in the best physical condition. He seems a trifle over-fed. Sheridan believes that he will be able to re-establish himself at the expense of Duncan when the pair meet at the senior Metropolitan championships.

HUB ATHLETES THE BIG NOISE

WORCESTER, Sept. 7.—The feature event of the electric light meet held in connection with the New England Fair on the Greendale track last night was the showing of the Boston boys.

Melvin W. Sheppard won the half mile race from scratch over a field of star performers. He won by a few inches from S. A. Barrett of the Brookline Gym, who had a handicap of forty-two yards.

The special event, putting the twelve-pound shot, between Wesley W. Coe of the B. A. A., ex-champion of the world, and Lawrence A. Whitney of Worcester Academy, schoolboy champion of America, Whitney won with a put of 55 feet to 52 feet 6 inches by Coe. The summary:

100-yard dash—Won by P. H. Dee, South Boston A. C. (scratch); B. F. Bowser, South Boston A. C. (5 yds.), second; Joe Malcolmson, Boston A. A. (5 yds.), third. Time, 10s.

220-yard dash—Won by H. P. Dee, South Boston A. C. (scratch); George Riley, Brookline Gym (15 yds.), second; W. R. Sutcliffe, South Boston A. C. (11 yds.), third. Time, 22 2-5s.

440-yard run—Won by J. Halfenstine, Brookline Gym (18 yds.); James E. Menzies, Jr., Brookline Gym (18 yds.), second; Ed Miles, Boston A. A. (13 yds.), third. Time, 56 1-5s.

880-yard run—Won by Melvin W. Sheppard, I. A. A. C. (scratch); S. A. Barrett, Brookline gym (42 yds.), second; James Burke, South Boston A. C. (8 yds.), third. Time, 2m. 3s.

Mile run—Won by O. F. Hedlund, Brookline gym [illegible]; Louis H. Nye, Holyoke A. [illegible]; [illegible] Joseph Curran, St. Stephens A. C. of Worcester (33 yds.), third. Time, 4m. 35 2-5s.

Team race for Worcester playground teams—Won by Burn-cot Parks, composed of Harry A. Adams, Jr., Earle Taylor, P. Lewis, R. Whitney and Chauncy Shaw. Distance, half mile. Time, 2m. 25s.

Mile relay race between St. Anne's A. C. of Worcester and St. Stephen's A. C. of Worcester. Won by St. Stephen's.

BALL PLAYERS LEAP FROM SKIDDING AUTO

Pitcher Reiger and Outfielder Coulter of the Lynn baseball team escaped serious injury by jumping from an automobile which crashed into a machine owned and driven by Dr. H. P. Bennett. The ball players were in an automobile driven by Michael McDonough of Swampscott. Slippery paving stones caused McDonough's machine to skid, and it crashed into the other car just after McDonough and his companions leaped to the ground.

BIG BATTLE IN VOTE CONTEST

The AMERICAN'S great Baseball Popularity Contest is gaining enthusiasm.

With the leading positions changing hands every day or so, and every fan working to the limit to acquire more votes, the competition for the ten free trips to the World's Series Championship Games becomes more spirited.

The thing for you to do is to keep up your fighting spirit every minute of the day, and keep your high standing, to inspire all your supporters.

If they see you are leading, they will work hard to keep you in the lead. Everybody likes to be on the winning side.

The battle among the contestants is going to be desperate from now on. The competition among the fans is not divided into districts. The ten free trips are being competed for at large.

The Contest Editor urges contestants to send in their pictures, as they can be published from time to time, and will be of great assistance to candidates.

It won't be very long now before the AMERICAN'S train with the ten winners aboard will start on this trip to the greatest ball games of a great season.

Every item of necessary expense for the winners will be paid by the AMERICAN. The train will go everywhere the pennants go. The AMERICAN winners will see every one of the big games, and it won't cost one of them a cent.

Now is the time to do your heavy work and to land one of the trips.

Remember, the contest ends October 1st—only a few short weeks from now.

Your friends will save the voting coupons for you if you will only ask them to.

Use every means possible to obtain votes.

The coupon in the daily AMERICAN counts for one vote. The coupon in the Sunday AMERICAN counts for ten votes. Only votes count in this contest!

The ones who get the most votes win! That's all.

The second published list of standing of candidates with their vote totals will be printed in next Sunday's AMERICAN.

NORTHERN SPY WINS RACE FROM ETNA B

NASHUA, N. H., Sept. 7.—Three classes were disposed of in the light harness horse racing at the State Fair yesterday. In taking one heat in the 2:14 pace Etna B. got a mark of 2:14¼, which is two seconds below her record and the best time made on the Nashua track for a number of years. She was, however, clearly outclassed in the subsequent heats by Northern Spy. Merry Mack and Birchleaf had no difficulty in taking the other two events in three straight.

ALVIE SHEPLER IS THROWN BY STEPAWAY

WORCESTER, Sept. 7.—All but two of the races scheduled for yesterday and those not finished Tuesday were run at the third day of racing on the Greendale track.

Alvie Shepler, riding W. S. Kilton's Stepaway, was seriously injured in the running race when his horse slipped and fell while rounding the turn near the start. The horse rolled completely over Shepler, who, although badly injured, was able to rise. He was attended by a physician.

THE latest Autumn fashions have arrived from Gay Paree
And the ladies all expectant fall in line
To express expert opinion on each fine display they see
And to view the latest fabric and design
The modeled ... will be scrutinized with care,
They marvel at its shades of blue or black,
While husbands, sons and fathers will go home and say prayer
That the blooming thing won't button down the back.

'Tis said an Oriental gown of wierdest Indian charm
Will hold a place among the season's gems
It ... reveals the dimpled arm
... the ... contents,
Its colorings are exquisite, its yellows and its blues
Are blended with the true barbaric knack
It surely will be welcomed and the hobble we'll excuse
If the blooming thing won't button down the back

Another dream of beauty is a filmy marquisette—
It is named "The Hidden Garden" by Lucile
As a garden was the first place that a man and woman met,
An awakened curiosity we feel
We've had our faults to find with gardens from the days of Mother Eve
To the garden where the steins are in a stack,
... "The Hidden Gardens" that this lady may conceive
Won't be gardens with the buttons down the back

... Anglican Priest ... forward, with ... Ian Hereward ... had to suffer ... of murder. Even if a jury ... there would ... have been ...

As for me, I am asking myself whether there could have been collusion between Sir Ian and this priest, whether Hereward had heard from him, and knew what he was likely to do, before he ventured to take the course he did.

I can't so far persuade anyone else to take this view, however, I confess, though I have had some interesting discussions ...

... a church; and ... Millicent Hereward ...

But as for Hereward ...

If I could see her I would try to find out ...

The latest gossip is, that in spite of everything, there is an understanding between Miss Ricardo and Hereward, which eventually may end in marriage. I wonder? Nothing is too strange to be true. But if this is not the exception which proves the rule, Miss Ricardo must be a brave woman.

How a Human Potato, Under Some Circumstances, May Become a Shining Diamond

By THOMAS TAPPER

I

THERE are more potatoes in the world than there are diamonds. Hence potatoes are cheap and diamonds cost a lot of money.

Now, there is no possible way by which a potato can change itself into a diamond. The power which the potato lacks in order to do this is the power of the Will.

There are more people in the world earning ... fifty per day than there are who ... from one thousand up to one hundred ...

...

It does.

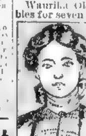
AFTER 7 YEARS SUFFERING

I Was Cured by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound



Waurika, Okla.—"I had female troubles for seven years, was all run down, and so nervous I could not do anything. The doctors treated me for different things but did me no good. I got so bad that I could not sleep day or night. While in this condition I read of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and began its use and in a short time I had gained my average weight and am now strong and well."—Mrs. SALLIE STEVENS, R.F.D., No. 2, Box 21, Waurika, Okla.

Another Grateful Woman.

Huntington, Mass.—"I was in a nervous, run down condition and for three years could find no help.

"I owe my present good health to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Blood Purifier which I believe saved my life.

"My doctor knows what helped me and does not say one word against it."—Mrs. MARY JANETTE BATES, Box 134, Huntington, Mass.

Because your case is a difficult one, doctors having done you no good, do not continue to suffer without giving Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial. It surely has cured many cases of female ills, such as inflammation, ulceration, displacements, fibroid tumors, irregularities, periodic pains, backache, that bearing-down feeling, and nervous prostration.

Desperate Desmond

Copyright, 1911, by the National News Association

To the old mill! What memories of melodrama are brought up by the words. But in this case we have something more serious on foot. The dusty miller and Claude Eclaire, hero, are putting Desmond, villain, into a bin of flour, and with no kindly purpose toward the scoundrel.

What a terrible revenge has been prepared by our exasperated hero. Desmond, buried in the flour, will soon be encased in a solid armor of dough, like John D. Rockefeller. Too much dough, however, is a nuisance, as Desmond will tell you any time you ask him. Call Borneo, 4-11-44.

Rosamond had baked many a cake, but never one like this the miller is about to place in the red-hot oven and bake with a crisp crust for the banquet to the Governor of Borneo. It must be a dainty dish that is laid before a King or a Governor, and the baker has extra fires burning.

The astute baker suddenly remembers that advertising always pays, and that the Governor's banquet affords a great opportunity for some splendid press-agent work. He resolves to put his card in the dough, and thus let the guests know what a good job he can do.

To the surprise of the baker, he finds that the dough contains a filling of villain. He soon extracts the arch-scoundrel from the uncomfortable overcoat in which he had been wrapped and, convinced that the miller had tried to queer him, the baker releases the villain once again.

"I'm the boy!" cries Desperate Desmond, "and I'll prove it!" With his black friends the Great White Villain rushes toward the unsuspecting Claude and Rosamond, who think they have put an end to the career of their terrible foe. Poor fools—just see what happens to them to-morrow.

Married Life the Second Year

By MABEL HERBERT URNER

A Broken-Down Car and a Dismal Night at a Little Country Road House

By MABEL HERBERT URNER

THE chauffeur crawled from under the car wiping his face on his sleeve with an air of finality.

"Nothing doing, John?" asked Mr. Stevens.

"'Fraid not, sir."

Warren gave a long, low whistle.

"We're in for it, then. How far back to Freepoints' Inn?"

"'Bout two miles and a half, sir."

"Think you can walk it?" asked Mr. Stevens, turning to his wife and Helen, who were sitting on a linen duster spread out on the grass by the road.

"Of course we can walk it," answered Helen. "It'll be lovely in this moonlight."

Mrs. Stevens rose and carefully smoothed out her skirt. "I suppose we'll have to walk it—we haven't any choice. But what if we can't get any car there?"

"Then we'll phone on for one."

The chauffeur was gathering up his tools and putting them back.

"You'll have to stay here with the car, John," said Mrs. Stevens, "and I'll send some one out as soon as I can."

A few moments later they were trudging back to Freepoints' Inn. It was almost nine. They had started out in the Stevens car soon after dinner and were now over fifteen miles from their hotel.

In the Moonlight

The roadhouse they had passed a couple of miles back and to which they were walking, was the nearest place.

It was a clear moonlight night. The air was filled with the cool, dew-scented odors of the woods and the murmured sound of night insects.

"Oh, Warren, listen to the crickets and tree frogs! It's been so long since I've been in the country at night—and I love it all so! Do listen to that shrill continuous note. It's louder than the rest. That's a tree frog, isn't it?"

Warren, who had paused to relight his cigar, didn't trouble to answer. He struck another match, shielding it carefully with his hand. Helen waited until the cigar was lighted, and then again slipped her hand through his arm.

"Oh!" as she took a deep, long breath, "I don't think the woods ever smelled so sweet. That's pennyroyal, isn't it—that you get just now? Look, look, dear!" as something rustled in the grass before them and then darted across the road. "What was it?"

"Rat."

When Warren was not disposed to talk he could condense his remarks in amazingly short sentences. And to-night he was plainly uncommunicative.

But Helen was full of eager enthusiasm. She loved this moonlight walk through the lonely country road. From the woods back of them came the distant hoot of an owl.

Helen pressed his arm delightedly. "Oh, do listen, dear—and there's another one answering. Don't you love to hear them?"

"Um—m."

But her joy in it all was too keen to be dampened by his unresponsiveness.

As they passed a small pond a little farther on there came the loud, hoarse croak of a bullfrog and then a splash. Then another croak and another splash. But even this failed to arouse Warren's interest.

"That the place?" he called out to the Stevenses, who were in front, as a distant light shone faintly through the trees.

"That's it!" called back Mr. Stevens.

But it was a full half a mile further on. It was a small roadhouse—dingy white with faded green shutters. Some flowers straggled in the yard, and a row of white-washed stones outlined the path that led up to the house.

It was only ten, but there was no one on the porch or in the front room through which shone a light. As they opened the gate a dog ran out, barking and frisking about them. And then appeared the proprietor, a tall, lank man in his shirt sleeves.

"Well, there's no way of gettin' any car here," he informed them briefly, when told of their plight. "And we ain't got no telephone. There ain't none nearer than Armstrong's, and that's seven miles."

They talked it over excitedly, but could come to but one decision—they must stay here for the night.

"Beastly hole," growled Warren, when the man had shown them up to the small, low-ceilinged rooms. "Gad! How musty it smells. Why on earth do these country people, where air is so cheap, never have any in their bedrooms?"

"But the window was closed, dear," ventured Helen. "It'll be better, now that it's open."

"That's it! One window as big as a postage stamp, and they keep that closed! I can't stand this. I'll get Stevens and go down on the porch for a smoke."

Alone

And then he added hastily: "You're tired. You'd better stay up here. Wait; I'll shove this bed up under the window. There; maybe you can get some air that way."

As he went down Helen heard him tap on the door across the hall.

"Want to go down for a smoke, Stevens?"

"No, guess not; I'm pretty tired."

Then she heard him going down the narrow, uncarpeted stairs alone. And he wouldn't let her go with him—he didn't want her! He would rather have Stevens or go alone.

She turned down the smoking oil lamp, loosened her collar and belt and threw herself on the bed by the window. But the bedclothes were damp and musty. She could not put her face on that soggy little pillow.

Warren had thrown his linen duster across a chair, and now she spread that over the bed, pillow and all. There was a faint odor of his cigars about the coat as she nestled down upon it.

The old lump of hurt pride and repressed love was again in her throat. Why did she always want to be with him, even when he showed so plainly that he did not want her? Would she never learn not to want him, not to depend on his presence for her happiness?

He was only walking up and down the porch in the moonlight, smoking a cigar. And yet he had not wanted her with him. Was it because she might hold to his arm or rub her cheek against his shoulder? Was he growing more and more to draw away from her caresses?

Oh, why, why had fate given her this ceaseless yearning for love, and then let her marry a man so cold and undemonstrative?

Through the small, shadeless window she looked up at the stars. Somehow it always comforted her when she thought of the vastness of the planets and the endless space through which they moved. After all, did it matter so very much? How insignificant was her heartaches in the great scheme of things.

The smoking lamp flickered lower. Outside the crickets and tree frogs kept up their murmurous chorus. And at last they soothed her to sleep.

A Thrilling Story of Wireless and War

TO-DAY'S INSTALMENT

By ARTHUR STRINGER

PART ONE—(Continued)

ALICIA BOYNTON did not answer him as he stooped and studied and worked. But she sat there, with her hands clasped loosely together, gratefully and softly watching the aureole of light that the swinging electric made about the wireless operator's head.

Things did not go McKinnon's way as easily as he had expected, or had so bravely pretended to expect. The first gray tinge of morning, deepening slowly to pearl, showed along the eastern sky-line before he had completed his task.

He sat back with a sigh of relief; he sat back like a god who had wearied of creation, looking on his work and seeing that it was good. The gray and pearl turned to pale rose, and slender pencils of light were showing through the chinks in his cabin shutter.

Alicia Boynton was still asleep on his narrow berth. So narrow was her resting-place, and so quiet her breathing, that it seemed to him as though she were lying in a coffin. She had dropped off into that sleep of utter weariness against her will. She had resolved to be with him and near him every moment of his labor, but the intriguing claims of the body had dethroned her volition.

And now, as he gazed down at her flower-like and tranquil face, he dreaded to waken her. He felt touched, as he watched the quiet throb of the pulse in her blue-veined temple where the dark and heavily massed brown hair had fallen back, with a sense of mystery before the ancient miracle of sleep.

He wondered where her escaped spirit had gone to; it seemed nothing more than the quiescent shell of her, the empty husk of her, and he stood and watched.

A wayward sense of loneliness, of desertion, crept over him, and he turned about, not ungratefully, to listen to the familiar swish of deck-hose and thump of holy-stone as the early awakened deck-crew washed down the decks.

It was commonplace enough, that swish of sea-water and thump of mumbling workers. But at the moment there was something wordlessly companionable in it to the listening McKinnon.

It reminded him that the every-day trivialities, the orderly actualities that sustain the machinery of life, must always go on, no matter how close may brood the spirit of outer tragedy. It reminded him, too, that it was morning, and that the hour of his ultimate trial had arrived.

The Morning

He swung his door open, and looked out along the deck. He beheld a windless sea, and a blood-red tropical sun mounting up above its rim, where dull orange paled into dark azure.

On his face he could feel the sea air, still fresh and balmy. There seemed something Edenic in its limpidity, something unearthly in its over-exquisite and unvoluptuous softness. It seemed to etherealize life, to beautify even the tainted and sordid hulk of wood and steel and steam that forged ever forward across its universal curve of azure peace. The sea itself, as he stood there watching it, assumed strange and quickly altering tints.

Along some slight wind-riffle it became claret-colored with turquoise and violet. The lace-work edge of some wandering current left it royal with floating purple, shot through, in spots, with flashing ruby-red that held all the fire of a thousand cinnamon-garnets. In other places some miracle of refracted light made the softly undulatory surface a bosom of breathing quicksilver.

Then a point's shift in the sun's altitude merged and darkened the silver into the pale blue of forget-me-nots, deepening it still again into dully lustrous maroon and lapis-lazuli, streaking it with lilac and applegreen, leaving it as varied and mystic as the breast-plate of an Hebraic high-priest.

McKinnon took a deep breath of that soft and balmy air, and felt that life was still beautiful. He felt that there were still great hopes to be thankful for, great hazards to be gladly faced, great ends to be attained.

Then his thoughts came down to more material things, as he looked about and beheld a dirty-jacketed and heavy-eyed steward carrying a pewter coffee-pot and a tray of fruit and toast and eggs along the deck to the captain's stateroom, but who veered about to the wireless-room door, at a sign from McKinnon.

"Couldn't you leave that with me?" asked the operator.

"It's the captain's," said the steward, moving impassively on.

"Wait!" said McKinnon, taking a bill from his pocket. "Your captain's not even awake yet. And you could have a second trayful up to him in ten minutes."

"It's Your Breakfast"

The heavy-eyed steward willingly enough surrendered his burden when McKinnon thrust a bank-note into his hand, and went shuffling below-stairs again, to replace the coffee-pot and replenish the tray.

McKinnon closed and locked his cabin door, before he sat down to the breakfast thus caught on the wing. When he looked up he saw Alicia Boynton regarding him with wide-open and vaguely wondering eyes. He felt glad that he had escaped the brutality of waking her to the troubled world that still encompassed them.

"What is it?" she asked.

"It's your breakfast," he said, with studied cheeriness. "You're going to eat it while I start to send."

"Then you CAN send?" she asked. Her world of reality seemed slow in coming back to her.

"I've got to go to the engine-room first," he explained, "to see about my power."

"What must I do?" she asked.

"Lock this door when I go out, and don't open it; don't open it for Captain Yandel himself, until you hear me knock three times."

She had made her hurried toilet by the time he was back, but the coffee and eggs remained untouched. McKinnon, at the still open door, could see that the brief tropical morning had already merged into open day.

He could see, too, that they had drawn closer in to the Locombian coast. Along the southwest lay a broken blue line of mountains, remote and lonely-looking. They seemed to him, under their high-arching sky of abysmal blue, like some forlorn and ragged rampart of a world's end.

Still nearer stretched the alluvial plains and the low, flat line of swamp-land, broken here and there by clumps of palms, along the higher spots where the ground-swell of the emerald-tinted shallows broke in blinding white on the coral beaches.

Between the toppling peaks of the Cordilleras and the littoral mangrove swamps hung a crawling and miasmal fog, curling and feeling its way inward, like a snake trying to escape the heel of the hot sun.

McKinnon's flesh tingled and crept a little as he looked on it, for it disquieted and overawed him, that land of crawling mists and blazing light and flaming heat. The thought of its overcrowded and self-strangling vegetation, of its ceaseless and sinister and over-exuberant life, depressed him. He was glad enough to shut and lock his door on it all.

To Be Continued To-morrow

The "Gun Runner" is running serially in the daily and Sunday AMERICAN. A liberal installment of this thrilling novel will be printed in Sunday's AMERICAN.

His Aero Aspirations Quashed

MISS STELTER finished arranging the last of the display cards of buttons and then gave a final pat to the large wads of her hair plastered over each of her ears as she warily located the distant form of the floorwalker.

"Mame!" she called across the aisle. "Seen them airships?"

"Sure!" responded the girl at the handkerchiefs. "Art he said last night he'd take me up in one only he was afraid I'd yell. He knows a man who is cousin to a man who cleans an airship garage an'"——

"Charlie took me to look at one go up yestidday," interrupted Miss Stelter, ruthlessly. "Charlie always wants me to be in on everything. Say, it was great! I nearly broke my neck——

"Those 'r' 10 cents a card. No, we ain't got none bigger for 10 cents.

"Wouldn't some people frost you, always wanting mor'n their money's worth! Well, we looked at one of them things floating around in the sky till I was dizzy. Then I grabbed Charlie by the arm. 'Don't you never,' I said to him, 'don't you never go up in one of them machines as long as you know me, Charlie Johnson! You've got to promise!'"

"Wha'd he say?" inquired the girl at the handkerchief counter.

"I ought-a known better," pursued Miss Stelter. "I ought-a remembered Charlie's high-strung nature, and how it always makes him stubborn to cross him. But I was that foolish! It made my head ache to think of his being a thousand miles up in the air and me down below wondering if two baskets 'd be enough to gather up the pieces in. Anyhow, I'm nervous.

Stern Charlie

"Dress goods three aisles to the left. No, madam, we don't carry that style button. I tell you that we don't, so what's the use of looking for it here?

"I'd like to give these people a piece of my mind who think because this is the basement they can impose on us! So I said, 'Charlie Johnson, you can just promise me this minute!' You know how stern Charlie can look when he wants to—I suppose it comes from ordering people to step forward in the car—and he just turned his full expression on me. And then he said he wouldn't!"

"My," said the girl at the handkerchiefs, "is he that stubborn?"

"Uhhuh," said Miss Stelter, proudly. "That man is a regular stone wall. He said a man that was a man courted danger instead of running from it, and it was a duty he owed—

"Six cents a dozen, these here are eight.

"He looked grand, too, as he said it. Five aisles down. I wish people would go 'long about their business and stop interrupting! He said he wouldn't humor me in such foolishnes.

"'But aren't you afraid?' I ast him. He just laughed at me in a scornful sort of way. 'Afraid,' he said. 'Me afraid! Well, I guess not! Going up in airships is the best thing I do! Why, I'm perfectly at home in the air. Of course,' he says, 'I've never been up in one of these here machines, but being on top of a skyscraper shows a fellow what he can stand. These people who talk about danger, huh!' I felt proud of Charlie when he talked like that!"

"Of course, you did," agreed the girl, at the handkerchiefs. "I know what Art says"—

"But I wasn't going to give in," went on Miss Stelter. "It's a bad habit to get into. 'But it's dangerous,' I told him.

"Charlie just hooted. 'Dangerous!' he said. 'About as much danger as you could put in your eye! The machines are perfectly harmless and you can manage 'em with a single twist of the wrist, because I've read about 'em. I expect I'll buy one when they come down cheaper. Why, there won't be any accidents when everybody travels by airship. They're great!'

Men Are Limit

"We were standing looking up with our necks 'most broke an' me hanging on to Charlie's arm, coaxing him. I was bound to get my way, though I was proud to hear him talk.

"Right in the middle of a sentence Charlie give a yell that you could have heard a mile off and waved his arms like a thrashing machine. 'Run!' he shrieked, 'run for your life! The thing'll get us all!' and he streaked it.

"You see, somebody in an upper story of a building had dropped an open newspaper from the window and Charlie's off eye had caught a glimpse of the thing floating down on top of our heads—it was getting kind of dusk—and I guess he thought an airship had got loose and dropped.

"Say, you ought to have heard the people laugh! I was awful ashamed, but the newspaper dropped right on my hat and covered me up.

"Charlie came around last night and I told him what I thought of him, putting a lady in such a position. But he promised he'd never go up in one of the things, anyhow!"

"Well, I should think you'd be relieved," said the girl at the handkerchiefs. "Men are the limit."

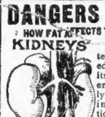
DANGERS OF FAT

HOW FAT AFFECTS THE KIDNEYS



The Kidneys often become affected by fatty deposits before any other organ. Probably there is no more important function of the entire body than that performed by the kidneys. Any interruption or impairment of this function, must necessarily soon result in serious trouble. And not the least of these dangers is the gradual change in substance of the organs themselves. You will hardly care to risk Bright's Disease, or the torture of Rheumatism, to say nothing of the unwelcome burden of fat which attacks the whole body, making it a sight far from attractive. There is one sure, harmless means by which fat may be checked; that is the famous Marmola Prescription of a Detroit Physician, rendered more convenient and effective in Marmola Prescription Tablets. All druggists sell Marmola Prescription Tablets, and their price is 75c for a large case, or they will be sent postpaid on receipt of price by the Marmola Co., 76 Monroe Ave., Detroit, Mich. By their use, exercise and dieting may be discarded; a smooth, clear complexion and even satisfactory reduction accomplished at the rate of 10 to 16 ounces a day.

Something Overlooked

'TWAS the London-Somewhere-Else express. Young Algernon de Giles sat in a first-class "smoker," and his face was wreathed in smiles.

"Thank goodness, I'm alone," he said; and o'er his "dial" broke a grin of unmixed pleasure. "I'm just dying for a smoke.

"Two hundred miles without a stop—that's something like a trip; and I've got enough tobacco, too, to sink a battleship.

"What shall I smoke? Now, let me think—pipe, cigarette, cigar? There's the good old 'coughdrop' mixture, and my favorite 'Red Star.'

"The 'Flor de Watercress' cigar is just my ticket; yet I've half a mind to start upon a Turkish cigarette.

"Hallo, here's luck! A packet of Saskatchewan cheroots. That settles it—I'll smoke the lot; they're prime, you bet your boots."

Anticipation ruled the roost; his pleasure was most keen as he thought about Nicotine.

If you think this joke is pointless, you're mistaken. Here's the catch: Algy searched through all his pockets, but he couldn't find a match.

As Usual

A CERTAIN editor had cause to admonish his son on account of his reluctance to attend school.

"You must go regularly and learn to be a great scholar," said the fond father, encouragingly, "otherwise you can never be an editor, you know. What would you do, for instance, if your paper came out full of mistakes?"

The boy looked up into his parent's face with childish innocence.

"Father," he said, solemnly, "I'd blame 'em on the printer."

And then the editor fell upon his son's neck and wept tears of joy. He knew he had a successor for the editorial chair.

Very Unfortunate

OLD Mr. and Mrs. Smiley were giving their annual party, and Mr. Smiley was making his usual speech.

"For forty years have my good wife and I traveled hand-in-hand down life's thorny path," he said. "In all those years not one single harsh, hasty, unkind word has passed our lips. Isn't that true, mother?"

"Mother" had quietly fallen a-sleep on the sofa, and as he laid his hand caressingly on her shoulder, she snorted defiantly, and said, sharply:

"Get up yourself and light the fire, Sam. I lit it last, and I'll see you far enough before I'll do it this morning, you—— Oh, oh, I—I—why, I must have dropped off to sleep!"

"And I think you'd better have stayed asleep, Lily," hissed Samuel into her ear.

BEAUTY HINTS

Superfluous Hair

Will you tell me if there is any way to permanently destroy a disfiguring growth of superfluous hair on my face and arms? I am 55 years old and the growth is very bad. My daughter, who is 22, is similarly troubled. I have been told that depilatories are worthless and that nothing is effective except the electric needle, which I hesitate to try, as I am told it is painful. I should be glad if you would give me your advice.

CHARLOTTE K.

You are wise to avoid the electric needle. It is a dangerous operation, and besides being painful, often leaves severe scars. I have frequently stated in these columns that it is better to endure the annoyance than to suffer the pain of the electric needle. I have also warned inquirers against depilatories, which are worse than useless because they cause the hair to grow out thicker than before.

Recently, however, I have received some enthusiastic and reliable reports about a new method (originating in Japan) which has been successfully used in this country. I do not know its name but a friend of mine who received a complete cure by its use, told me that she would gladly furnish full particulars, without charge, to anyone who would write her.

If you will write to Mrs. Osgood, Suite 119 K, 123 E. 27th st., New York City, enclosing a two-cent stamp for reply and mentioning my advice, she will send you quite free of all costs, complete instructions which will undoubtedly enable you to be permanently rid of all trace of the blemish.

TO-DAY'S STOCK MARKETS AND ALL THE LATEST FINANCIAL NEWS

NEW YORK, Sept. 7.—The stock market opened with a wavering, uncertain tone to-day as a result of lessened demands, B. & O. being about the lowest with a decline of ¼. Canadian Pacific was off 3-8. The lack of demand was said to be due to the covering of the first few days which has left few if any traders on the short side of the market.

Owing to the more optimistic reports from the West relative to the labor outlook on railroads, Union Pacific showed up with a gain of ¼, while Southern Pacific was unchanged.

After fifteen minutes of trading there was a moderate upward movement, in which a number of active issues joined.

The curb was irregular. Standard Oil opened 10 points off. American Tobacco was up 3 points.

Americans in London were without character.

OH, JOY!

PIRATES ALL! BUT THOSE KATZENJAMMER KIDS ARE THE WORST OF THE LOT." The funniest Katzenjammer page yet, in the famous colored comic section of the Sunday AMERICAN.

STATE ST. NOTES.

While the market is expected to advance several points further on this movement, it is purely a trading affair, the buying being chiefly for short and speculative account. Although there has been considerable short covering, the technical position is still strong. Much more stock will be liquidated, however, should the advance be carried much further, and renewed when it begins again.

National City Bank of Chicago monthly circular says: "Outlook for business as a whole may be said to be fairly reassuring. It is not time to take pessimistic view of things. Many commercial centers report some increase in volume of bank clearings over total shown a year ago. Very few sections report reductions and tone of business is becoming more confident in some localities. There is no rush of orders in sight and no likelihood whatever that mills in near future will be called upon to run over time. But there is good reason to believe that if crop conditions continue to improve there will be some quickening in general trade before many weeks."

$ $ $

That the country's crops are receiving the benefit of exceedingly favorable weather conditions is testified to by current weekly reports of the Government Weather Bureau. This week's review states that heavy and beneficial rains over the eastern portion of the country and abundant sunshine over the interior and western portions were the features of the weather during the week. In the corn growing States moderately warm and generally dry weather was favorable to the maturing of vegetation. In the Spring wheat States the weather was mostly dry and favorable. In portions of the cotton belt much damage was done by the severe storm of the week along the Atlantic coast, but in the Central and Western States there was nothing to complain of.

$ $ $

Although a dividend had been expected on American Beet Sugar common stock in September, it may be that it will be delayed a few weeks owing to the absence of President Duval in Europe. The statement was originally and exclusively made in this column that American Beet Sugar would receive a dividend this year, and that statement is repeated by authority. As a stock that will soon be on a 4 per cent. dividend basis, it is very cheap.

$ $ $

Evidence of the return of the outside public to the participation in stock market trading is now being furnished by the books of New York and Chicago commission houses, which show heavy transactions in odd lots, involving a market value of $2,500,000 within the last few days.

$ $ $

Loss talk is heard of the possibility of reduction in Southern Pacific's dividend from the present 6 per cent. rate. Considerable short stock had been put out on this theory. Now that the chances for a strike among the company's shopmen appears hardly likely these shorts are becoming uneasy.

Automobile Notes

By J. C. KERRISON.

Another entry has been received for the coming Glidden tour. The entrant is Miss Birdie Marks of Athens, Ga., who telegraphed home that she has cut short her tour abroad and is homeward bound to participate in the great American classic.

Miss Marks will arrive home about the first of October, and after trying out her new Columbia roadster, which she has entered, will sail for New York from Jacksonville with the other tourists who will participate.

A second Columbia car has been entered by C. J. Hood of Commerce, Ga. He is one of the leading advocates of good roads in Northeast Georgia, and will be accompanied on the 1,569-mile drive by Colonel G. L. Carson, who participated in former tours over the National Highway.

Charles A. Malley, manager of the Malley Motor Vehicle Company, local distributors for the Warren line of cars and trucks, has returned from a flying trip of inspection to the Warren factory.

Mr. Malley reports that matters are progressing swimmingly at the factory, and that the new Warren "Forty" will be ready for delivery from the factory within the next few days. He has been assured that the New England territory will receive the first shipment of these cars, which is very gratifying information, as many of the New England dealers are waiting anxiously for their appearance.

The Warren light delivery truck, the new models of which are on exhibition at the salesroom of the Malley Motor Vehicle Company, is attracting wide attention among the business concerns of Boston. There is a big demand for this truck, and a successful season is predicted for it by Mr. Malley.

The Second Annual Reliability Tour, under the auspices of the Buffalo Automobile Club, was inaugurated yesterday morning. This tour will be 800 miles in distance. Under the precedent set last year, 200 miles will be covered each day, the day's run starting and ending in Buffalo. A different route has been mapped out for each day, and some arduous work is predicted for the cars entered before the tour finishes on Saturday.

Summary of information contained in Letter of President of the Company:

This Company has acquired a large Oil Refining Plant and Works fully completed and equipped on the Bay of San Francisco with deep water facilities and upwards of 100 acres of valuable water front Real Estate.

WORKS—The works are exceptionally well built; the construction being of brick, stone and iron with slate roofs to all important buildings, while the situation and arrangement of the plant provide for operating in a large way at minimum cost.

BUSINESS—The business which has been done by the Works and is to be continued by this Company on a larger scale, is the Refining of Crude Oils for domestic and foreign trade, and this Company will direct its attention especially to the transaction of the Cargo Trade in refined oils to the Orient. The crude oil is to be purchased direct from producers and the refined products sold to the markets of Asia and of all countries advantageously reached by the Pacific Ocean, especially Chi a, India and Australia.

CAPACITY AND EARNINGS—The works have a capacity of about 2,000 barrels crude oil per day. It is proposed to increase materially this capacity later on. At intervals during the construction period of the works, some 60,000 barrels of crude oil have been refined, and the refined products have been sold to the foreign and domestic trade of the Pacific Ocean at a satisfactory profit. This profit should amount to approximately $2.00 per barrel when the works are put into full operation. With the present capacity of 2,000 barrels per day, the net profits on this output at $2.00 per barrel would amount to $1,200,000 per annum, a sum sufficient to pay the full 7% annual dividend on the preferred stock, and leave a balance available for dividends amounting to about 25% on both preferred and common stock.

SAFE AND PROFITABE BUSINESS—The Company does not produce crude oil but transacts a manufacturing and export business purchasing crude material from producers and selling the manufactured products to the foreign and domestic trade. The very profitable nature of the oil refining business is generally well known. On both the American and Asiatic sides of the Pacific Ocean the demand for refined oils is constantly increasing.

NO BONDS—No Mortgage can be put upon the property, or bonds issued by the Company in priority to the Preferred stock without the consent of every holder of the Preferred stock. This condition is endorsed on each Preferred Share Certificate.

American Oriental Company.

Political Bosses Can Prevent a Judge's Election and Make Judges

But Mr. Taft Says the Ordinary Common People Haven't Enough Intelligence and Should Not Have the Right to Remove the Judges That They Elect and Pay.

Copyright, 1911, by American-Journal-Examiner

The people of Arizona demanded statehood and presented to Congress and to the President a Constitution which gave them the right to remove from the bench, if unworthy, judges elected and paid by them.

This right Mr. Taft denied. Himself a lawyer and former judge, Mr. Taft was outraged at the thought that the people who elect judges and pay judges should consider themselves authorized to remove judges corrupt or incompetent.

And because the people of Arizona put in their Constitution—as they had a right to do under the Constitution of the United States—a clause permitting them to remove judges for good cause, Mr. Taft vetoed their statehood bill.

They won't be controlled in the matter, of course, for they will, under compulsion, give Mr. Taft the kind of Constitution he asks for, while knowing that he has no moral right to dictate, and they will proceed at once, after their admission as a State, to enact a constitutional amendment giving them the right to recall judges, and then they will ask the amiable Mr. Taft what he proposes to do about it.

Our lawyers in this country have so much to say, they fill so many offices, they work their way up so very often from the well-paid employes of trusts to the dispensers of justice from the bench that a good many citizens are deceived by their fine words.

Naturally the lawyers as a class do not believe that the people should have the power to take judges off the bench.

Dog catchers as a class, if they had the veto power, would deny the right of the people to remove dog catchers from their jobs and salaries.

But among the honest and intelligent lawyers, and among the honest judges who, fortunately, form a great majority in the judiciary, there is the sincere conviction that the common people are unfit to decide what is honest and what is dishonest, what is just and what is unjust where a judge is concerned, and, therefore, unfit to remove that judge from his position, IN SPITE OF THE FACT THAT THEY HAVE ELECTED HIM AND PAY HIM HIS SALARY.

This is nonsense, and every man with common sense knows that it is nonsense. It is doubly preposterous, because we give to the lawyers and the judges, the very men whose personal interests are involved, the right to say what the people may and may not do.

Mr. Taft and the other lawyers and the judges are excited because the people choose to take the republican form of government literally, and to say that if they have the power to hire judges they have the power to discharge judges.

Lawyers, judges and corporations are outraged because the people think themselves sufficiently intelligent to recall judges.

But they are not at all excited about the fact that a thick-necked, mottle-faced individual political boss with a forehead half an inch high and a jaw like that of a gorilla, has the power to pick out men to be judges, the power to refuse re-election to judges, and the power to say to these just judges: "You have displeased me, and you shall never be elected judge again."

Does any man deny that these political bosses have the power, and constantly exercise it, to say to judges: "You shall not be re-elected"?

Why does a political boss tell a judge that he shall not have a second term, and why does he kick that judge off the bench and back into private life at the end of a term?

The boss does that because the judge has failed to obey the boss, failed to carry out the orders of the corporations that own the boss.

Does not Mr. Taft, who has the veto; does not every citizen know that the political boss, backed by the power of his political ring, can say to the judge: "When your term ends no more work on the bench for you. You are disobedient. You have forgotten my orders, betrayed my interests, and now you are out"?

That condition exists in the United States, and everybody knows it.

And yet Mr. Taft and many other respectable lawyers and judges actually feel that in a country where a dishonest boss has the power to end a judge's career at the close of his term because that judge has been honest, the people should not have the power to end another judge's career before the close of his term BECAUSE THAT JUDGE HAS BEEN DISHONEST OR INCOMPETENT OR BOTH.

The people have a right to recall their judges; they will exercise that right, and no veto, no judge, no lawyer, no corruption and no hypocrisy will prevent it. What the people create they can destroy—otherwise there could be no government by the people.

The Celebration of Columbus Day

It Should Be Worthy Not Only of Columbus, but of the Hundreds of Thousands of Italians To-day Doing Admirable Work in the United States.

Copyright, 1911, by American-Journal-Examiner

Boston is planning to celebrate Columbus Day, October 12, in a conspicuous and fitting manner. Columbus Day is a holiday established in honor of the man who discovered this country.

It should be celebrated enthusiastically, not only because of Columbus, but as a well-deserved tribute to the Italian nation of to-day, and especially to the hundreds of thousands of Italians that have come to this country and that render splendid service as hard workers, good citizens and a much-needed element in our mixed and complex civilization.

Whatever may be done in the way of celebration, we suggest that the main idea should be to voice high appreciation of the value of the Italian as an American citizen and contributor to American national success.

An adequate celebration should include specially arranged pleasures for Italian children, special meetings for Italian young men and women. And it should include tributes by the ablest public men of all races to the admirable qualities of the Italian people, and denunciation of the unjust and stupid attacks to which ignorance in America has often submitted them.

The celebration should be something gratifying to the Italian population as a whole, something that will impress on the Americans in general the good qualities of the Italians.

Lifting the Burden of Living

That Is What Reciprocity Will Do for the People of This Country and Why EVERY PERSON Should Be Interested Vitally in the Big Battle Now on in Canada—Read All About it in Next Sunday's Special Reciprocity Edition of the American.

More than 300,000 former Canadians in Massachusetts, nearly one-third of whom live in Greater Boston, and many other thousands throughout New England, have their eyes focussed on the great American-Canadian reciprocity fight that is now being waged in Canada.

And these thousands TO A MAN are eager and anxious for the success of the reciprocal measure.

Not only these former residents of our sister country, but every other man and woman who have their own welfare and that of New England at heart will want to read what is printed and see what is pictured in the special Reciprocity Edition of next Sunday's AMERICAN.

The former Canadians who live in the United States have been working with might and main in favor of the reciprocity measure, not because they revere the United States and revile Canada, but because they desire the MATERIAL ADVANCEMENT OF BOTH COUNTRIES.

One of the most valuable features of the Reciprocity Edition is an expert discussion of the measure by A. C. Chisholm, President of the Intercolonial Club of Boston, which is composed of native-born Canadians now citizens of this country.

President Chisholm speaks out in ringing words in behalf of these former Canadians. He speaks as the son of Canada who has adopted this as his home but who has not, nor never will, forget the Fatherland.

Mr. Chisholm's opinion on this question is intelligent, frank and sincere. He stands for the mutual interests of the two countries. And one of the striking things in his article is the nailing of the myth that reciprocity is the forerunner of annexation.

"What this (reciprocity) means to the Canadian farmer, the Canadian miner and the Canadian fisherman," writes President Chisholm, "cannot be measured by political consideration or false cries of loyalty to the Union Jack."

Inside information of the conflict, written in his own trenchant manner, will be printed in next Sunday's Reciprocity Edition from the pen of Mr. Elias McQuaid, the Sunday AMERICAN'S special commissioner in that country.

New England people—and the people of the whole of this country—should not forget that Canadian RECIPROCITY REACHES RIGHT INTO EVERY HOME AND LIGHTENS THE BURDEN OF LIVING.

For that reason next Sunday's Special Reciprocity Edition will appeal to every man and woman who can get a copy of it. It would be advisable to order a copy TO-DAY from your newsdealer.

The Millennium

By PERCY SHAW

THE era of the stingless bee
Is looming to the fore;
The gentle spineless cactus tree
Comes knocking at our door.
But science yet has much to do
To win a deathless way,
Let her blot out the creature who
With clammy hands declares to you,
"It's awful hot to-day."

We're proving now that Shakespeare was
A humbug with a past;
That Bacon scorned his plays because
He thought they wouldn't last.
But if we only might grow wise
To some new way to shake
The fellow with forbidding eyes
Who swears there's nothing like the pies
That mother used to make.

Soon will the planets cease to be
The mysteries of old;
We'll Venus bear in repartee
Or Martian statesmen scold.
But if we only could devise
A kind of modern rack
For college friends with soulful lies
Who want a "ten" till next sunrise
And never do come back.

We yet shall witness woman reign
Where man sat high before;
And peace will fill the world again,
For who will go to war?
But how we shall acclaim the day
In this sad vale below
When banished to the far away
Those bores shall be who always say,
"Of course, I told you so."

"Perjury and Fraud" "Bribery and Graft"

One of the greatest of Irish poets writing an inspiring ballad on the extinction of the Irish Parliament, penned as his opening line: "How did they pass the Union?" and then he gave the answer in four words: "By Perjury and Fraud."

If the poet were living to-day he might have said "By Bribery and Graft."

In all the history of graft and corruption there is no chapter more odious than that which tells of the methods by which Castlereagh robbed Ireland of her Parliament in 1800.

It will be told in next Sunday's AMERICAN by C. O'Connell Galvin, who, in his recent tour of Ireland as Special Commissioner for the Sunday AMERICAN, gathered together, as one of the fruits of his mission, full material for a most interesting article on "How They Passed the Union."

Names and bribes are given in all their naked authenticity. It is a record enough to make the world stare in shame and anger.

When the illustrious Gladstone, three times Prime Minister of England, first read that story, he denounced the Act of Union as "one of the blackest acts in all history." It will be told in full in

Next Sunday's American
